$2.85 Billion Cut Sought in Budget

Move by House Committee Likely to Meet Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriation Committee's move toward a $2.85 billion budget cut apparently has satisfied neither Republican critics of the Johnson administration nor Democrats who say the price of a tax increase is a deep spending slash.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., whose Ways and Means Committee shelved President Johnson's tax boost proposal two weeks ago, declined direct comment on the Appropriation Committee action. But he said he has no plans to reconvene the Ways and Means Committee to consider tax legislation.

Mills has said the House would not pass a tax increase bill without spending cuts between $5 billion and $10 billion—and perhaps not even then.

Seeks Big Cut

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, said in an interview he'll still try on the House floor to win adoption of a $5 billion spending cut.

The Appropriations Committee rewrote an emergency financing bill Monday to direct a $2.85 billion cut in federal spending—about $1.4 billion of it in the current fiscal year.

Bow lost on a party-line vote when he tried in committee for a $5 billion cut all in the current year. But he said "I think we might win on a close vote" when he renews his fight Wednesday during House consideration of the bill.

Original purpose of the bill was to grant once more interim spending authority to government agencies whose appropriations for the budget year that began July 1 still haven't been approved by Congress.

Bow said the committee budget cut "is a step in the right direction but it still doesn't do enough."

Payroll Cut

The committee bill would require a 5 per cent payroll cut for federal executive agencies, require them to absorb without extra funds the $625 million pay increase now pending, and cut research spending 10 per cent. Exceptions are made for Vietnam and other urgent spending.

Bow and other Republicans want a much deeper slash in actual expenditures to reduce the prospective budget deficit.

Some Republicans say also they may attempt to extend the reduction in government payroll funds to the employes of Congress and the judiciary.

The Appropriations Committee said the restriction would eliminate about 110,000 government jobs, but there would be few if any firings since turnover is heavy and positions could be left unfilled.

Heidi Might be Brewing at Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —A tropical depression, which could grow into the season's eighth tropical storm, was centered midway between Miami and Bermuda today.

The depression was expected to drift toward the west-northwest for the next 24 hours.

If it grows into a tropical storm or hurricane it will be called Heidi.

Hundreds Burn Cards, They Say

War, Draft Demonstrations Dot Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scores of persons have been arrested in antiwar and antidraft demonstrations staged by thousands in cities from coast to coast. Hundreds burned what they said were their draft cards.

Spokesmen at a demonstration in New York said their action was part of a nationwide mobilization of those resisting the draft. Protests took place in 30 cities across the country.

Some 5,000 antidraft demonstrators jammed onto the University of California's Berkeley campus Monday night in defiance of a court injunction barring any campus antiwar teach-in.

No action was taken against the protestors. A university spokesman said, "It is not in the least interest of public safety to move in with a wedge of police."

Singer Arrested

The protest came after police broke up a disorderly blockade of the Oakland Army Induction Center Monday with 121 arrests, including that of folksinger Joan Baez.

At Boston's Arlington Street church the strains of "We Shall Overcome" sounded as 67 youths, mostly college students, burned their cards at the altar Monday.

Afterward, 220 more youths surrendered their draft cards to clergymen. The total number of demonstrators was swelled to 3,500 by students who arrived from colleges and universities throughout New England.

"In the name of student deferment," read a Boston newspaper ad signed by 200 faculty members of different schools, "the son of the middle-class white American is all too often spared the fate reserved for the poor and black."

Four demonstrators were arrested in Chicago after some 210 persons tried unsuccessfully to push their way into the federal building to surrender their draft cards at the U.S. marshal's office.

Campus Demonstration

There were 10 arrests at the Selective Service Center in Champaign, Ill., following a rain-drenched demonstration on the University of Illinois campus. Two of the youths claimed to have burned their draft cards.

In Portland, Ore., three youths were seized for disorderly conduct in an antidraft demonstration after they refused to

No Control In Sight at Santa Paula

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A major brush fire raged on two fronts today — one heading toward the rugged timberlands of Los Padres National Forest and the other toward a town of 20,000 persons. Authorities said the town, Santa Paula in southwest San Fernando Valley, was not in immediate danger. The fire was about a quarter mile from outlying homes which were buffered by damp vegetation of Santa Paula Creek.

Some 600 firefighters struggled on both fronts of the fire through the night as the toll of charred land grew to 3,000 acres, said William Waltrip of the U.S. Forest Service.

Firefighters declared victory Monday over a two-day brush fire which blackened 25,000 acres in another part of Ventura County and threatened the town of Thousand Oaks.

60 Homes Lost

The Los Angeles County Fire Department estimated that fire destroyed 43 homes in Los Angeles County and 17 in Ventura County.

No control was in sight for the Santa Paula fire, Woltrip said.

"It's not looking too good at all. We had a kickup in the wind overnight and the fire's backing down to Santa Paula Creek," he said.

The flames raced through an oil tank field in the early morning, but combustible material around the tanks had been cleared away so none was damaged, he said.

On the other front, firefighters strained to keep the flames from timber stands. From 500 to 600 acres of brush in the national forest were consumed, Waltrip said.

If the fire gets into timber it will be inaccessible to ground firefighting efforts because there are no roads or firebreaks, he added.

Arson Suspected

Meanwhile, three teen-agers were held for investigation of arson in a series of fires which burned 1,000 acres by this morning about 25 miles to the southwest.

Ventura County Sheriff's deputies said the two girls and a boy are charged with setting a four-acre fire near Simi Valley High School.

The fire near Thousand Oaks, a 10-mile-long blend of two separate outbreaks that began Sunday in Los Angeles County and Ventura County, resulted in the evacuation of 50 homes. More than 1,000 pupils were evacuated from two elementary schools on the north side of Thousand Oaks. The fire came within two miles of the town, but was stopped by a fire line cut by a dozen bulldozers.

The flames in the two-county fire were estimated to have caused hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage to lemon, orange and lima bean crops.

The fire that threatened Thousand Oaks was part of one that destroyed more than 10 homes in the Chatsworth area, 10 miles away.

9-Year-Old Girl Loses Fight for Life

Julie Ann Mahnke, Milwaukee, Dies Of Crash Injuries

Nine-year-old Julie Ann Mahnke of Milwaukee, lost her battle with life this morning and became Outagamie County's third traffic fatality in two days.

She was injured in a head-on automobile crash late Sunday afternoon. When she was brought to Appleton Memorial Hospital she had stopped breathing but a doctor revived her with external heart massage.

She died at 2:15 a.m. from severe head injuries, Outagamie County Deputy Coroner C. J. Schink said.

Her mother, Mrs. Raymond Mahnke, is in good condition at Appleton Memorial, while Patrick Pierce, 16, Shawano, driver of the other car involved, is in fair condition.

The accident occurred at 5:55 p.m. Sunday on County Trunk A 1½ miles south of Center Valley Road. The cars driven by Mrs. Mahnke and Pierce collided head on.

Her death was the 20th of the year in Outagamie County. Last year there were 16 traffic deaths in the county at this time.

Gag Turns Into Mayor Candidacy

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — As a joke, friends of Jack Williamson, a University of Georgia senior, put up hundreds of "Williamson for mayor" signs around town without his knowledge.

But the 22-year-old student decided to take them seriously.

Williamson announced his intention at a Monday news conference to oppose two-term Mayor Julius Bishop as a write-in candidate in the city's primary election. He said he hoped to get the support of the Republican Party in Athens.

Gales Lash Welsh Village

LONDON (AP) — Rain and gales lashed Britain throughout the night and early today it appeared the worst-hit spot was the Welsh village of Aberfan, nearing the first anniversary of a coal sludge disaster that killed 144 persons.

More than 350 men, women and children were evacuated from their homes when the Taff River burst its banks and swept into two Aberfan streets. But a mine engineer said there was no danger that the rain would weaken the huge piles of mine wastes overlooking the village and start another disastrous slide.

Emergency services were rushed into Aberfan, and coaches carried the evacuees to schools on high ground to spend the rest of the night. Between 50 and 60 houses, some flooded to a depth of six feet, were emptied.

No Longer a Simple Matter

Soviets' War Stand Puzzling

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — Diplomats here profess perplexity about the Soviet Union's current position on how the war in Vietnam might be brought to an end.

A News Analysis

The position seems no longer simply a matter of demanding a halt to U.S. air raids on North Vietnam, withdrawal of American forces from the South and recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front—the NLF—as the only legitimate representative of the southern people.

Choice of Words

Possibly nothing much has changed. But the whole history of Communist leaders' careful choice of words to reflect unstated policies argues against this.

One possibility is that the Soviet Union is working behind scenes to try to soften positions of the participants in the war, especially those of Washington and Hanoi, so that peace talks might be arranged.

Perhaps the most intriguing possibility is that the Soviet Union is seeking to split the Vietnam problem into two parts—stopping U.S. air raids on the North and negotiations with the NLF—to prevent Hanoi from blocking a settlement.

Some diplomats put this interpretation on the most recent statement by a Soviet leader on ending the war. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said two weeks ago that the way to solve the Vietnam problem was to end the bombing of North Vietnam and recognize the NLF's program.

Kosygin and other Soviet leaders before and since did not restate the whole package of North Vietnamese demands or even refer directly to Hanoi's four points that summarize them. Previously they were usually mentioned in top-level Soviet speeches.

The Soviet Union has also not reacted quite so sharply to recent U.S. raids around Haiphong as it did to earlier extensions of raiding targets.

The NLF program adopted in August calls for "an independent, democratic, peaceful, neutral and prosperous South Vietnam" with eventual "reunification of Vietnam . . . step by step and through peaceful negotiation" between the North and South.

Splitting the Vietnam problem could open the possibility of peace talks in the South while the North simply dropped out of the war once it was no longer bombed. Diplomats here speculate that Kremlin leaders may have this in mind.

This could reduce the influence on events of Red China, an advocate of fighting on as long as necessary. The Soviet Union is assumed by diplomats here to want the war ended.

UW Students Protest Campus Job Recruiter

MADISON (AP)—A crowd of 75 to 100 University of Wisconsin students launched an antiwar demonstration today against campus job recruiting by a firm making supplies for the Vietnam conflict.

There were no incidents or apparent conflict with regulations as the marchers, watched by 300 other students moving between classes, walked in a circle outside the Commerce Building. Job recruiters had permission to use the building.

New Ground Operation Begun by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced a new ground operation aimed at taking pressure off South Vietnam's northernmost provinces. The command said 21 Marines and 44 Communists had been killed in the first week of the operation and 167 Marines wounded.

In the air war, U.S. Navy planes returned to Haiphong for repeat raids on a missile-helicopter assembly base, a major highway bridge and three SAM antiaircraft missile sites.

Possibly 5,000 men were thrown into the new ground operation—Medina—28 miles south of the embattled demilitarized zone. They included several battalions from the 1st Marine Regiment, a special battalion landing team from the 7th Fleet's Ready Amphibious Force and South Vietnamese troops.

The operation began Oct. 11 but was not announced until today for security reasons. Marine intelligence reports indicate there are 17 Communist battalions operating around the DMZ and in Quang Tri Province, perhaps more than 7,000 enemy troops.

Operation Medina is underway in the dense, jungled mountains near the southern boundary of Quang Tri Province, nine miles south of the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

U.S. spokesman said heavy monsoon rains were making the operation difficult. The heaviest fighting so far occurred last Thursday when 300 Marines ran up against about 400 North Vietnamese troops in a battle that raged for 4½ hours.

Backed by artillery and helicopter gunships, the Marines reported killing 30 of the enemy, while eight Marines were killed and 46 wounded.

Since then, there have been numerous scattered contacts between small units.

Scattered Skirmishes

U.S. Navy bombers streaked in from carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin Monday to attack a huge military compound three miles south of the center of Haiphong for the third time in eight days and the northern approach to the Kien An highway bridge 1.7 miles from the heart of the city.

The military compound contains about 70 army barracks and other buildings where Russian-built missiles and helicopters arriving by sea are assembled.

Elsewhere across South Vietnam, only scattered skirmishes were reported with 26 of the enemy reported killed by U.S. troops.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported Communist gunners killed one civilian and wounded 23 in two separate mortar attacks. One of the attacks was on a village between the demilitarized zone and the Marine base at Dong Ha.

U.S. pilots flew 105 strike missions over North Vietnam Monday. The focus of attention was on Haiphong, where Navy officers claim thousands of tons of war supplies have been backed up as a result of the campaign of nearly two months to isolate the port city.

Navy A4 Skyhawk and F4 Phantom pilots reported numerous secondary explosions, fires and a plume of smoke rising 2,000 feet in the raid on the big military compound, hit for the first time Oct. 9 after it was taken off the list of targets out of bounds for American warplanes.

U.S. spokesmen maintain they must keep bombing the sprawling military compound because there are many supplies and missiles there, apparently more than can be dealt with in one raid.

Navy pilots reported cratering the northern approach to the Kien An highway bridge, one of four main bridges cut previously to bottle up military supplies that are shipped from Haiphong to Communist troops in South Vietnam.

Vice Adm. John J. Hyland Jr., commander of the 7th Fleet in Vietnam, told a news conference Monday that all four main bridges were down, but U.S. spokesmen said repair work is a continual process.

Hong Kong's Border With China Fenced Off

HONG KONG (AP) — Struggling to curb Communist violence, British authorities tonight completed the erection of a barbed wire fence along the 17-mile-long frontier between this crown colony and Red China. One aim was to block further kidnaping.

Four Hong Kong men have been abducted across the border in the last two weeks and there was no word on their fate.

Hopes Bolstered for Solution in Mideast

Russian Deputy Kuznetsov Arrives for Talks at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The arrival at the U.N. General Assembly of Vasily V. Kuznetsov, a Soviet deputy foreign minister and key negotiator, raised hopes today that the Russians may be ready to join in seeking peace in the Middle East.

One high-level Communist delegate said that Kuznetsov's arrival Monday was "a good sign" for possible solution of the Arab-Israeli stalemate. Kuznetsov was sent to New York in 1962 to negotiate with the United States over the Cuban missile crisis.

New Minister

Jordan, one of the chief Arab participants in discussions on the Middle East, has sent its new foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, to New York to take part in the talks.

The United States is keeping a tight lid, however, on its role in the talks on the Middle East.

U.S. sources confirmed that Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, but they said nothing would be made public on the substance of the talks. An Egyptian source said they met Monday for 90 minutes.

Riad had met at least once before with Goldberg and conferred for 90 minutes with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the opening days of the General Assembly.

Eban to Return

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban left New York Sunday for Jerusalem, but he was expected to return in a week or 10 days.

Attempts have been going on for more than three weeks to work out a meaningful resolution on the Middle East deadlock for the Security Council.

One proposal reported to have considerable support is for the council to list general principles for a settlement and authorize Secretary-General U Thant to name a special representative to work out details between the opposing sides.

The United States has been seeking Moscow's support for renewal of a combined attempt to win the endorsement of the Arab world for a resolution that would combine the two main sticking points.

— Israeli withdrawal from territories of Egypt, Jordan and Syria seized during the June war.

— Arab recognition of Israeli's right to exist as a nation and an end to the 20-year Arab state of war against Israel.

Testimony Almost Ended in Meridian

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Lawyers for 18 white men charged with conspiracy in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers predict the case will go to the jury Wednesday.

Defense attorney Travis Buckley of Laurel said only a few witnesses remain before rebuttal and closing arguments.

"It could possibly go to the jury late today," Buckley said. "But I doubt it. The jury will probably get the case Wednesday morning."

Buckley said the defense could have finished Monday, but the battery of 12 attorneys decided at a weekend meeting to put additional witnesses on the stand.

There were 57 witnesses called during a seven-hour session Monday. Before the weekend break, the defense marched 40 witnesses to the stand. Two Negroes told the all-white seven woman and five man jury that Ku Klux Klan Imperial Wizard Sam Holloway Bowers was "a good man."

J. C? Powe and Amie Coleman both gave that description of the Klan leader. Mrs. Coleman added, "and he's a very nice person."

The witnesses fell in one of two categories: alibi or character.

Witnesses gave 13 of the 18 defendants alibis for the night of the slayings in Neshoba County on June 21, 1964.

The day was a Sunday and Fathers Day, many witnesses said so they remembered the day clearly.

California Gov. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan, left, and Michigan Gov. and Mrs. George Romney stand on the windblown deck of the liner Independence as the ship sails down New York's harbor after its departure Monday. The Statue of Liberty is barely visible in the background. The vessel is the scene of the National Governors Conference and is en route to the Virgin Islands.

Governors' War Tiff Brewing

By JACK BELL

ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — A fight over a resolution endorsing President Johnson's Vietnam policy shaped up today as the floating National Governors Conference steamed toward the Virgin Islands.

Utah Democrat Calvin L. Rampton said he would offer his 44 colleagues a motion backing Johnson's pursuit of the war. He received immediate support from the conference chairman, Gov. William L. Guy, D-N.D., who said: "I favor a resolution in support of the commander in chief."

But the plan ran into resistance from Michigan Gov. George Romney, a recent critic of the administration's war policy and a potential Republican candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination.

Romney Opposed

Regardless of the resolution's merits, Romney said in an interview, "whenever there's an effort to use this conference for matters other than matters relating to the states, it tends to be disruptive and divisive."

Other Republicans and Democrats seemed eager to head off a possibly harsh confrontation on Vietnam.

"There's no need for any great debate," said Illinois Democrat Otto Kerner, pointing out that a conference of governors announced support for Johnson's position earlier in the year and that 20 Democratic governors lined up with the President in a caucus Sunday.

Also apparently wary of war policy pronouncements were Republicans John A. Love of Colorado and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, who said they did not think there would be a statement of policy.

"After all," Love said, "We Republicans are just about as divided as the Democrats on this issue and they have a candidate and we don't."

Besides Romney, Govs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California, both frequently mentioned as possible Republican candidates for the presidency, were on board for the eight-day cruise that sailed from New York Monday.

Romney, Rockefeller and Reagan, along with half a dozen other governors, planned to fly home Friday or Saturday. The remaining group will return to New York with the Independence, due back Oct. 24.

There was some speculation that Johnson might fly to Virgin Islands Saturday to address the conference, but the chairman of the Democratic governors caucus, Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, said he had not been informed of any such plans.

Insurgents Growing Bolder

Thailand Makes Move to Curb Communist Influence

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BANGKOK — At long last, the royal government of Thailand is making its influence felt in the backward northeastern section, where the threat of Communist subversion worries the United States as much as it does Prime Minister Thanom.

But the time is late and the failure of hundreds of villages to share the new prosperity of Bangkok and the town threatens the government with an upward-spiraling crisis.

The slow beginning of Bangkok's good works is unmistakable. Fly by helicopter from the U. S. Air Force and Army base at Korat to the Mekong River border town of Nakhon Phanom and the evidence is spread beneath your eyes: scores of small dams, trapping rainy-season water and storing it for the dry season, irrigation ditches, channeling the water that lies on the landscape in this wet season like a dripping sponge.

Evans

Novak

Special Army units, trained by the U. S. Army's Special Forces, are learning how to conduct anti-querrilla actions, and the police are working the countryside with more skill than before.

But with all this, the evidence of a more serious insurgency in the northeast, and down in the Kra Peninsula neck of southern Thailand on the Malaysian border, alarms U.S. officials here. In 1966, for example, there were ten times as many incidents — an assassination, a food theft, a forcible propaganda meeting in some remote hamlet — as in the four previous years and this year the incident rate is as high as 1966.

More to the point, a new boldness by the insurgents, some of whom trained in China, has become apparent. Today, for example, there are more daylight propaganda meetings than before. These are often forcible assemblies in a village, when Communist political cadres explain straightfaced that the United States wants to make Thailand a state and take it over lock, stock, and barrel.

More insurgents are wearing uniforms than ever before, seemingly less concerned about the government's Communist Suppression Operations Command. This new boldness reached a peak recently in Sakon Nakhon province, when an armed propaganda team harangued an entire village for eight straight hours. The incident happened only four miles from the nearest government anti-insurgency forces. All told, U.S. experts count some 1,300 armed cadres in Thailand today, more than ever before. They say privately that if the present rate of insurgency continues, large areas of the depressed northeast may be denied to the Thai government.

Government Delays

This surely would already have occurred were it not for the belated political spurt of the government to come to grips with the one-forgotten notheast. That it has not occurred is due partly to the fearful example of South Vietnam, Thailand's eastern neighbor across the narrow strip of southern Laos, to an extraordinary partnership between Thailand and the U. S. that is now beginning to pay large dividends, and to the new political maturity in Bangkok.

After years of promising to produce a constitution, the military dictatorship that runs this country is now prepared to produce one. Moreover, this new constitution will make no sanctimonious pretense of switching to instant democracy. To the contrary, it will be strictly conservative, embodying one appointed and one elected house in the new national assembly.

But the mere fact that after years of talk a constitution is actually going to be adopted (probably late this year, with elections late next year) is a political landmark. Today the government operates under an edict of martial law. It can and does close down newspapers that dissent too loudly. It can and does hold prisoners for months without trial.

The new constitution will work some small changes in these hereditary marks of dictatorship. But most important of all are the fundamental changes being worked by the ever-growing presence of the United States. To examine these changes, and how they are affecting not only Thailand's internal politics but the whole future of Southeast Asia, requires a further report.

leave state Selective Service headquarters. About 300 more protesters stood outside.

The draft cards of several Americans in London wound up in the lost and found department at the U.S. Embassy there after they tried to hand the cards over to embassy officials.

Hostile bystanders jeered as five young men burned what they said were their draft cards during a rally outside Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

The Rev. David M. Gracie, urban missioner for the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, lauded the "courage and imagination" of 171 persons attending the demonstration.

Nearly 300 demonstrators were locked out of the federal building in Los Angeles. Two representatives carrying a bucket with 55 draft cards were later allowed inside.

Two youths burned what they described as draft cards at the federal building in Cincinnati, Ohio. When a draft official refused to accept cards from some 150 youths an envelope with 27 cards was thrown on his desk.

Protest in Capital

In Washington, D.C., 10 demonstrators talked with Col. Daniel O. Omer, deputy director of Selective Service, and left him an envelope containing registration certificates.

Fifteen Cornell students turned in draft cards at Selective Service headquarters in Ithaca, N.Y. About 200 students backed by some professors had demonstrated earlier.

There were also demonstrations in Denver, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Albany, and Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Pittsburgh, Providence, R.I. and San Francisco.

Father of Two To be Charged In Girl's Death

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Sheboygan County Judge John Buchen authorized a warrant today charging a 25-year-old father of two children with third degree murder and attempted rape in the death of 19-year-old Kay Lambrecht last Friday night.

Richard Wright of Sheboygan Falls was taken into custody Saturday and previously was quoted by Dist. Atty. William K. Sonneburg as admitting that he had been with the 19-year-old Lambrecht girl shortly before her death.

The complaint alleges that Miss Lambrecht died while Wright was attempting to rape her.

An autopsy report Monday showed that she died from a lack of oxygen, but that this might have resulted from suffocation, asphyxiation or exhaustion.

Miss Lambrecht's nearly nude body was found in a wooded lovers' lane area Saturday by three squirrel hunters.

Airports Idle Now, Compared to Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think airports are crowded now, wait until 1980, says the Federal Aviation Administration.

It said the nation's 22 busiest air centers will handle 370 million passengers in 1980 compared to 70 million in 1965. There will be 75 million takeoffs or landings compared with 20 million in 1965, and 15 times as much air cargo will be handled.

Family of 16 Decides Two Houses Is Answer

DETROIT (AP) — One house was not enough for the 16-member Girard Nefcy family, so they became a two-house family.

When the family decided the bathroom backup had become unbearable, says Mrs. Nefcy, they considered an addition to their two-story brick home in northwest Detroit but were deterred by the prospect of living at a construction site.

And also, who would buy an eight-bedroom home after the children had gone?

So when neighbors across the street put their home up for sale, it took the Nefcys only about a day to decide this was the answer.

The six Nefcy teen-agers—four boys and two girls—moved in and set up a dormitory while the other youngsters have sperad out in the original home.

The Nefcys say there will be no misbehaving across the street—the penalty for such conduct is being returned to headquarters.

Thieves Not Hard Of Hearing, Auto Back With Owner

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Martin Alsop tried a simple approach against thieves who stole his car. He called them up and told them to bring it back. And they did.

Alsop told police this story: A neighbor called him, saying he had seen someone take his car. Alsop called the police.

Then he remembered he had just installed a radio in the car with a connection to his answering service, and he put through a call to his own car.

"You that stole my car had better bring it back," he yelled. "It has already been reported to the police."

When the officers arrived at Alsop's house a little later, the car was parked in the street a couple of doors away.

Saturn Occulted Over Eastern U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The ringed planet Saturn was occulted or hidden by the moon for more than an hour Monday night, a rarity that had not been seen in New York since 1951.

Hayden Planetarium astronomers said the occultation occurred above New York from 7:47 p.m. to 8:53 p.m. but cloud cover limited visibility here.

The phenomenon was also visible in areas of the United States and Canada east of the Rocky Mountains.

Telephone Rate Drop Takes Effect Nov. 1

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Beginning Nov. 1, you will be able to dial any phone number anywhere in the continental U. S. between midnight and 7 a.m. for just 75c.

On that day, the rate for a three - minute station-to-station call between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m., again, anywhere in the continental U. S., will drop from a maximum of $1.50 to a maximum of $1.25. Maximum daytime person-to-person rates for three-minute calls will be reduced from $3.50 to $3.30.

Porter

And also on Nov. 1, today's "after 8-and-Sundays" station-to-station call within the continental U. S. will become the "after 7 and weekend rate—and it will be in effect all day on Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day, July 4th and Labor Day as well.

We are about to get a new round of telephone rate reductions — the 22nd major cut since the start of U. S. coast to coast phone service in 1915. Our annual collective phone bill as of two weeks from tomorrow will plummet a full $100 million and it will go down another $20 million on May 1.

What will this mean to us?

"Long Distance" Routine

One thing is sure: it will make long distance calling increasingly routine in this country, and in the middle-upper income family, the once great occasion of "Mom, it's long distance!" is already routine. This year alone, we are making an estimated 5.250 million long distance telephone calls, triple the 1,500 million we made as recently as 1950, and up 336 million over last year. There's virtually no doubt that the number will go ever upward to new peaks, with a New York-San Francisco call going down to a minimum of 75 cents and a New York-London call already down to a minimum of $5.70.

Another thing that's sure is that business will increasingly use long distance calling for ordinary transactions. The once basic rule, "It's urgent!" for long distance calls has already been broadened to "it's cheaper and easier." The average cost of a single dictated business letter is now $2.49 as against a Nov. 1, $1.75 rate for a 3,000 mile daytime call in the U. S.

A third development that's probable is the growth of the "special transaction via long-distance telephone." The once exceptional "Overseas calling!" is certain to become more commonplace. This year's 11,-000,000-plus overseas calls could easily be on the way to doubling in the next few years.

Profits Increase

As far as American Telephone & Telegraph is concerned, the lower rates by no means lower profits. Quite the contrary. Because of the huge surge in volume of long distance telephone calls, due to lower rates, and because of major technological innovations over the years, AT & T's profits on interstate calls have grown steadily, from 6.95 per cent in 1950 to 8.19 per cent in 1966.

Here are illustrations of what the new rates will mean in terms of actual long distance calls you may make.

Call Between	Now After 8 p.m.	After Nov. 1 After 7 & Weekends	Midnt. to 7 a.m.
N. Y. & L. A.	$1.00	$1.00	.75
Denver & N. Y.	.90	.85	.75
N. Y. & New Orleans	.80	.75	.65

State Assures Leeway on Water Laws

Promise Time, Study Of County Duties Under New Rules

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — County boards have been assured that the state Division of Resource Development is not interested in coercing them on compliance with new shoreland and flood plaining ordinances, and that the state agency will permit every reasonable proposal for time and study of the new duty of county governments.

Robert Mortensen of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, in a current bulletin to county leaders, also expressed the view that the state division will prefer to avoid direct involvement in such division, although the new state water pollution law gives it the power to impose such rules upon the local governments in the event that any county defaults.

The protection of flood plains and the regulation of shoreland use were incorporated as integral parts of the far-reaching water protection law and pollution abatement program enacted by the 1965 legislature The nominal deadline for the county enactments is next Jan. 1, but Mortensen said the state agency will give counties "reasonable" opportunity to comply according to local problems and circumstances

An important feature of the new law is that the new county ordinances do not require the ratification of town boards within the counties. Ordinary land use zoning ordinances require such town board consent, which is one of the reasons why land use controls have been applied with varying degrees of effectiveness since they were begun several decades earlier.

The state agency has already circulated what it calls minimum standards for the new zoning laws to be enacted by the counties, but with explicit instructions that they are to be construed only as guides.

Mortensen had also circulated a model ordinance to the counties, based on his consultations with the state agency specialists and others.

The state agency memorandum to counties explains that the local governments are encouraged to enact controls more strict than those contained in the state recommendations "where the need for and the validity of such standards can be substantiated by detailed plans and implementing controls."

Some counties have already acted to impose such controls, but Mortensen advised also that there is no reason why such ordinances cannot be amended from time to time in accordance with experience and changing conditions.

Men Arrested Near Iola Face Federal Charge

FBI Agents Take Custody of Pair In Stolen Car

WAUPACA — Two men arrested near Iola Friday by Waupaca County Sheriff William Mork have been arraigned before a federal court commissioner and charged with transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents picked up the pair and took them to Mosinee to appear before a court commissioner The men are also being questioned about cashing money orders stolen in Michigan

Mork arrested Thor Van Jansen, 24, Oakland, Pa., and Raymond J. Krawczyk Jr., 22, Milwaukee, at an Iola drive-in restaurant following a tip the two men were acting suspicious in the Iola area.

Carried Pistol

Mork said one of the men had been armed with an automatic pistol but both surrendered without trouble

Their late model car had Kentucky license plates and had been stolen in Pennsylvania, Mork said.

Bond was set at $2,000 for Jansen and $500 for Krawczyk Unable to furnish bond, both are being held in the Marathon County jail at Wausau

At the time of the arrest Jansen gave the name of Albert W Cyphert but later admitted his real name He told police he also used several other aliases besides Cyphert

Added Water Supply Sought At Hortonville

Board, Consultants Consider Bids for New Test Well

HORTONVILLE — Bids for a test well are being considered by the village board and the village's consulting engineers Glass and Donaldson, Waupaca.

Being considered are Layne Northwest Co., at $4,134 and Miller Well and Pump Co., $3,790.

Trustee Hilbert Behm raised the question as to the necessity for a second well when the present facility is used only six hours a day. Behm suggested it might be possible to install a more efficient pump at the present well.

Robert Schneider, another trustee, said it was important that another water tower be constructed to increase the water pressure on the westside

Tower Benefit

Del Glass, consulting engineer, said a second water tower would be beneficial in the event of power failure.

The village is considering a second well and water tower because of concern raised on an adequate water supply for fire fighting in the village's industrial area. Most of the industry is on the west village limits.

John Dahlk, Public Service Commission representative, met with the board to discuss changes in the village's water and ewer rates. A rate study is to be made by the board. At present rates are inadequate to meet the utility's ezpenses.

Concern Expressed

In other action concern was expressed over the time being taken to complete the village's comprehensive planning report Village Clerk Roger Coenen is to contact Al Karetski, director of the Department of Resource Development, about the plan and request 10 copies of the official village map

Schwan Oil Co., Hortonville, was awarded the contract to supply fuel oil to the village with bids of 13 05-cents per gallon for No 2 grade oil, and 13 88-cents per gallon for No 1 grade fuel oil Schwan's was the lowest of three bids received

Building permits were issued to Hortonville Mfg. Co., for a 22 by 60 foot concrete building, Appleton State Bank, for razing an old home and construction of a new building; Art Winter, for construction of a new home south of the community hall, and to Hattie Ebben, W. Main St., for remodeling a garage.

Town and Gown Series

Jazz Sets Overdue Precedent

BY DAVID F. WAGNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Although it was a marked departure from the usual fare, the appearance of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band set a long overdue precedent for the Town and Gown series here

Town and Gown has been the primary showcase of the professional performing arts during the past decade, but it was not until Monday night that the annual series got around to including a representative of America's first original art form The 1967-68 lid-lifter at the Civic Auditorium was a rousing affair that inspired hand-clapping and cheering from an audience more accustomed to recitals and operas.

The New Orleans jazz form the band represents is only a memory to most and, in fact, had it not been for the Preservation Hall idea (begun in 1961), the unavoidable elimination of the music from the performing stage would have been updated by may years The millions that have heard New Orleans jazz since 1961 are so much the richer, including the 1,500 persons attending Town and Gown

Realize Significance

Ranging in age from 60 to 77, the five-piece band brings a cumulative 250 years to every stage. It would be an unobservant person who did not realize the band's sound had minor technical shortcomings, but it would be a silly soul, indeed, who would snigger and downgrade the musicianship for it For that would be to miss the point entirely; to fail to realize the significance of these musicians, each of whom contributed mightily to the evolvement of jazz. And they pioneered when jazz was known in "polite" circles in somewhat less complimentary terms.

The guiding spirits of the band are Billie and DeDe Pierce, a husband-and-wife team around whose leadership the rest of the combo rotates. Billie plays piano in traditional ragtime styling, and has considerable ability with a blues-tinged vocal DeDe, almost totally blind since 1950, plays cornet and sings a rough-hewn blues His instrumentalizing is enthusiastic, but quiet elementary in execution As is true with so many grass roots musicians, DeDe Pierce's ability to create a mood, a feeling for the past, a yearning to hear and learn, makes him invaluable, both to his special combo and the world's musical community.

Many Improvisations

A large share of the audience's enthusiasm was directed at clarinetist William Humphrey Jr., whose mournful solos nicely balanced some of his peppier licks. Humphrey's solo smoothness was the easiest hook on which the audience could grab, but a careful listener caught many subtleties of improvisation that set the New Orleans style apart.

Drummer Cie Frazier is an oldtimer of no small talent and trombonist Jim Robinson (the youngest looking 77 one is apt to find) exhibited several strong solos The only white member of the band was Allan Jaffe, a tuba player who was not listed in the advance notices Jaffe is also the owner of Preservation Hall and the band's manager He does a creditable job on tuba, too, but tended to lay it on a bit thick occasionally, as it were.

DeDe and Billie opened the concert with a traditional blues number, after which the other members came onstage (during "Hindustan"). Gradually weaving their way through instrumentals and vocals — including "I Had a Dream" "Hello, Dolly," 'Li'l Liza Jane" and my personal favorite of the evening, "Loveless Love" —the band concluded the regular portion with an extended version of "Just a Closer Walk With Thee," in which each member had a slow solo before the tempo picked up for a foot-stomping conclusion

The encore was the famed "When the Saints Go Marching In" By then, the audience was sufficiently primed for more in this rare exposure to ORIGINAL American art.

Lawrentians Come Back for Homecoming

Mrs. Robert McKee, second from right, mother of two varsity Lawrence football players, was the center of this group at a homecoming social hour Saturday. She talks with alumni Mr. and Mrs. Chriss Larson, Appleton, and Mrs. Bernard Heselton, wife of the director of athletics.

Lawrentians young and old, recent and long ago, mingled with each other and with undergraduates at homecoming activities last weekend. From the Thursday evening concert, through Blue and White Day Friday, with its convocation, games, skits and pep rally, through the mayhem of the Saturday homecoming decoration judging and the fun of the box lunch at noon, right on through the victory over Cornell College on the football field, it was a weekend filled with activity.

Reunion classes met for dinners Saturday evening, with old friends catching up on news of those who couldn't be there and commenting about the growth and changes at Lawrence since their own college days.

The weather almost held good through the game, but the rain had little effect on the spirits of those who came across the country — or across town — for homecoming, 1967.

Chatting at Lawrence homecoming festivities are Miss Carol Trautwein, assistant dean of women and head resident of Kohler Hall; Carl Stumpf, Appleton, former Viking football captain, and Mrs. Kenneth DuVall, Appleton.

Marquette High School's 40th

Recollections, Raillery Ring Roundly at Writer's Reunion

By CARROLL ARIMOND

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 1927 class of Marquette University High School assembled in 40th anniversary reunion Saturday night to compare waistlines, count gray hairs and exchange lies like, "You haven't changed a bit."

The big change from 1957 was in conversation rather than in physical appearance. A decade ago we were telling where our children stood in college; this time we were trading counts of grandchildren.

Wives attended for the first time at the 40th. The arrangements committee decided we had reached an age where that would be safe.

Worked in Bakery

"For 30 years I've been hearing about this remarkable bunch of fellows," Mrs. Lawrence Paulus said. "Finally I'm getting to see them all in one place."

Her husband, Larry, had worked nights in a bakery to raise his tuition. Today he's real big in industrial meal service. Mrs. Paulus did not say whether the reunion ran short of advance billing. But she wasn't nudging Larry to demand a refund, so why press the point.

The reunion was loaded with "real bigs" in education, medicine, law, clergy and business. When Red O'Donnell proclaimed "1927 was the outstanding class in the 110-year history of our school", no one started an argument with him.

Conrad Saskowski, a history teacher at South Division High School, more or less set the tone of the session when he was asked to play the piano.

"I have been practicing since Thursday," he said. "That's really not long enough. As a result my playing won't be as terrific as it was 40 years ago."

Humility Strong Point

Humility always was the class' strong point.

Even the one saloonkeeper in our class, Tony Pochert, is a distinguished member of his craft. His Sketch Bar in Port Washington, north of Milwaukee, is no ordinary spa.

In school Tony owned the only set of illustrated textbooks. he had drawn portraits of Clara Bow, Norma Talmadge and that bunch in the flyleaves. Now, when a customer comes into his bar, Tony whips out a sketch pad and pastel stick and makes a portrait of him. Tony can draw fast or slow, depending on how many martinis he figures the patron is good for.

Free Portraits

Tony brought his pad and pastels to the reunion. At Greenwich Village or Chicago Old Town prices, Tony knocked off about $400 in free portraits during the session.

On his way out he knocked over a glass and broke it. When a barkeep drinks out he's entitled to all customer privileges.

No resolutions were passed, but there was considerable feeling that we should quit calling Red O'Donnell Red. In the first place white weeds have completely taken over the strawberry patch atop his head. Second, his mail comes addressed, "The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, S.J."

That's because he is chancellor, and former president, of Marquette University. Several of his classmates are on his faculty.

Forty years ago, if there had been a poll on who in the class was most likely to become head of a university, Red O'Donnell, shy, retiring, average student, would have lost hands down.

Harold K. Schneider, professor of anthropology at Lawrence University, will discuss "What's in a Name — The Sociology of Language" at the Thursday morning Women of All Saints Episcopal Church Lecture Series. The 10 a.m. program is the fourth in the current series. Dr. Schneider, a specialist in cultural anthropology in the African area, has visited Africa three times. As a Fulbright scholar he studied the Pakot tribe in Kenya and, under a National Science Foundation fellowship studied the Turu tribe in Tanganyika. He received his Ph.D. degree from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Girl Reporter in Vietnam Has Own Impact

Editor's Note—The name might fool you but the fact is that Kelly Smith is a blonde American girl. She is also a talented reporter who for the last few months has been in Vietnam as an AP correspondent. Winding up that assignment, she tells in this story of the impact a female American can make on the Vietnamese.

By KELLY SMITH

CENTRAL HIGHLANDS, Vietnam (AP) — Soldiers in the remote, rough-hewn highlands of central Vietnam noted that their native counterparts spent a good deal of the day staring at the GIs' pin-ups.

The GI quarters were decorated with pcitures of girls in various stages of undress, clipped from men's magazines and calendars.

But surely the Vietnamese had seen women. Why the interest?

Simple enough, said the Vietnamese. They liked this custom of not wearing clothes. They assumed all American women didn't and they wanted to meet some American girls.

Imagine their disappointment when an American woman arrived fully clothed.

Throughout Vietnam, from the far north to the isolated districts of the Mekong delta, a blonde American woman is a novelty.

Rather Different

The American man, the GI, is something that took getting used to: his height, his broad shoulders, his fair skin, round eyes, varying colors of hair, the hair on his chest and arms which Vietnamese do not have, his big feet and his ready laugh.

But somehow in Oriental thinking it never occurred to many that this strange, hulking man might have a counterpart—a woman.

Worse yet, a blonde woman in a country where virtually everyone has black hair. Or a tall woman in a country where most women are about five feet.

The arrival of an American woman is always an event. In tiny hamlets, old people bow, clasping hands in the ancient fashion of respect. Children scream at first sight, then after an hour or so run in gangs and point.

Many, both old and young, hide and must be coaxed out of thatched roof huts to talk. Step into a paddy field and villagers gasp and close their eyes, certain that such weight will surely sink.

A Heroine

To a village which has had contact with American magazines, a local television set or perhaps a movie, an American woman is a starlet. No use explaining that there are 70 million others. To the villager there is only one.

Curiosity reaches its peak if the woman wears Western dress. Old women inevitably squat on the ground and stare upward, amazed apparently at the presence of revealed leg and somewhat curious about what's underneath. Vietnamese women wear long satin pants under a long skirt.

The Vietnamese farmer is more interested in the neckline. He will grip his coolie hat and talk to a point midway between his visitor's face and dress-line, answering questions almost irrationally.

Not Certain

If the American woman wears battle fatigues, there seems momentary confusion over whether it's a GI with long hair or a new kind of soldier.

When she talks, people giggle. When she takes off her sunglasses, a hundred eyes are waiting to see the color of hers. If they are blue they gasp in amazement.

In time, American women will become more common. Just now there are some disillusioned Vietnamese in the highlands who think those pin-ups are a sham.

Your Problems

Social Workers Need Help in Locating Welfare Chiselers

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a social worker in the welfare department of a medium-sized city in California Everywhere I go, when someone learns I'm in the welfare department, I get the same tiresome routine It goes like this "Why don't you get those chiselers off the relief rolls? I know of a case where the guy is working and collecting unemployment compensation."

Here's another one. "We are encouraging women to have illegitimate babies by giving them aid money for every kid they bring into the world. These nogood tramps keep having a baby every year so they can collect the aid money."

I'd like to say something to everyone who "knows a case" Welfare agencies don't want to hand out money to chiselers Please give us some real information like the names and addresses of the people instead of vague talk. We employ investigators whose job it is to check out fakery and fraud. If you will help us nail the fakers we'd appreciate it, but no more vague talk, please — K P M.

Dear K.P.M.: I've heard the same chatter and I am not a welfare worker. Thank you for telling me what to say to these people.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl 17, one of five children, and thoroughly disgusted with my parents Mom and Dad have been married 21 years and all they have ever done since I can remember is fight, fight, fight. They throw things, yell, curse, and lock each other out of the house What's more, they don't care who sees or hears them.

The day after one of these disgusting knock-down drag-out brawls they act like a couple of lovebirds — as if nothing happened How can people be so changeable?

I've told my mother a dozen times that if she had an ounce of self-respect she would throw Dad out of the house. He is the one who starts most of the fights She says, "You are right," but she never does anything about it

What can I do to get Mom to throw Dad out so we can have some peace and quiet around our place? — War Zone

Dear Zone: Nothing. So give up already. If your parents have been battling for as long as you can remember, they will probably continue to battle for the rest of their lives.

Some people get their kicks from fighting and making up. It's unfortunate that these kooks don't do their fighting out in the middle of the desert where they could scream their childish heads off and no one would hear them, but they seem to enjoy performing for an audience.

Just remember these ugly fights and vow that your children will never have to put up with such stuff.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Makeup Fashions To be Romantic

Like clothing and hair styles, makeup fashions are headed for the romantic look. They are moving from the ultra-pale no makeup or natural effect to one of more color, more brights and highlights — just as clothes and hair styles are entering a less architectural stage.

That's the word from a cosmetic firm, who adds that more makeup color doesn't signal a return to the heavily madeup look of yesteryear. Colors for lips and fingertips this fall and winter will be more definite than they were during the summer, but still far removed from the deep and the dark.

Focus on Eyes

Eyes, the biggest focus of the makeup fashion scene, are being sculptured with subtle greens, blues, grays - browns and highlighted with whites. Mascaras, eye liners and eye shadows now are color keyed to one another. During the upcoming holiday season, the green-eyed look will be one to envy — hazy, misty, dreamy and romantic.

Complexions, too, are undergoing subtle changes. The emphasis is on a natural, glowing, skin-toned look, rather than the matte look of yesterday. Holiday complexions will feature more shimmer and highlights via brush-on or puff-on color, more commonly known as blushers.

Pretty Girl Look

The total effect of the new makeup fashion is a pretty girl look; feminine without the stark, all eyes and no color style that pervaded fashion in the first half of the year. With the arrival of the winter holiday season, the transition will be nearly complete.

Arts, Crafts Instruction To be Given

The Appleton Recreation Department has scheduled arts and crafts classes for youngsters six to 15 years of age. The classes, which will begin Saturday and continue through the fall and winter months, will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon in room 107 of James Madison Junior High School.

Instruction in figurine painting, soap carving, lustre lace braiding, woodworking, greeting card design, water painting and crayon and tracing work has been planned.

Theodore Gerarden will instruct crafts and John Jeske, art.

Those interested have been asked to register at the school.

'Why' of Home Accidents Important in Prevention

A four-year-old girl fell from an upstairs bedroom after leaning against the window screen. A small boy fell from a third floor window. Three little girls in different states fell from upstairs windows in their homes.

Why? Because there were no screens or guards at the windows. And because adults failed to observe the primary window safety rule when there are little children in the home: open windows from the top only, if possible.

A review of reports about home accidents, by the Council on Family Health, some of them fatal, shows that the "why" may be rooted in human carelessness, neglect or even defiance of common safety precautions

Dangerous Heights

A four-month-old boy fell from a highchair. Two youngsters were injured in falls from dining chairs. A two-year-old girl fell from a kitchen table, and an eleven-month-old boy fell from a living room couch

Why? Because the child in the highchair was not strapped in properly. The other children were at dangerous heights without adult supervision

A two-year-old girl drank a glass of water mixed with fertilizer. An eighteen-month-old boy ingested turpentine A sixteen-month-old girl sipped hair lotion. A two-year-old boy swallowed liquid detergent

Why? Because the containers had been left on a kitchen table, on a kitchen counter, in cabinets under the sink, all within easy reach of little hands

A two-year-old sampled a bottle of pills while visiting her grandparents. A three-year-old boy drank from a bottle of medicine in his parents' bedroom. Two small girls ate medicine samples. A three-year-old boy sipped from a container of medicine.

Why? Because the pills were on an easy-to-get-to bedroom dresser in grandpa's home. The medicine bottle was on a bedroom window sill. The two girls found medicine in their mother's purse on the bed — and the container of medicine was on a low shelf in a linen closet.

Potentially Harmful

The Council on Family Health, a non-profit organization established as a public service by members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health, points out that in the hands of little children, medicines are potentially harmful. Always keep medicines out of reach of small children.

A three-year-old drank from a nearly empty bottle of household chemical. Another small boy found a nearly empty container of insecticide.

Why? Because the containers, still with a little of their potentially dangerous contents, were discarded in trash baskets which the children could — and did — reach into.

A mother arose at dawn to give a child cough medicine and picked the wrong medication. A man went to the bathroom for a familiar medicine and took what he thought was the proper container. Later, he found he had swallowed medicine intended for external use only

Why? Because neither adult took the time to read the medicine label

Type of Clothing

An elderly woman was burned while cooking a meal. An elderly man tripped on the cellar stairs

Why? Because they were wearing the wrong kind of clothes. The woman had on a long-sleeved, voluminous robe of fuzzy material. The man was wearing frayed and loose-fitting house slippers.

It would seem from reports of the accidents reviewed by the Council on Family Health that knowing the "why" is as important as knowing the "how."

'Washday Blues' Probably Named in Colonial Times

If you feel that your weekly laundry is a major household effort, take heed to these tales of what went on in the "good old days" — the real "olde" ones.

Washing was done monthly. In fact, the washing often was done only every two or three months. This explains why a girl's matrimonial prospects increased with her supply of household linens! And, considering the conditions that these brave Colonial home-makers had to cope with, it's understandable.

Home-Made Soap

Ye Colonial housewife struggled through her quarterly laundry aided only by vast quantities of home-made soft soap Then came the problem of what to do with all these wet clothes

Housewives, during the 17th and 18th centuries, relied on the garret in the winter months. After re-arranging the old trunks and cast-off furniture customarily stored here, they fitted long adjustable poles from rafter to rafter to hold the hanging garments.

Good weather was a mixed blessing. The convenience of being able to spread the laundry on sunny lawns and hedges was offset by the hazards of washday thieves, or "Prygmen"

Thomas Tusser's rhymed instructions to good housekeepers goes straight to the point

"Dry sun, dry wind, Safe bind, safe find."

Can you imagine how ecstatic the "goode dames" would be with our snap clothespins and sturdy clothes line that safely holds heavy winter coats, even such heavy washables as venetian blinds.

Imagine her astonishment at discovering that her descendants hang "drip dry", "no iron", "permanently pleated" garments on clothes lines that simply cannot break without warning!

Give thanks that you were born in time to enjoy such blessings And that extra-strong, extra-durable, modern lines are available as near as your hardware store The new lines hold pins to "bind" your clothes firmly even in high winds — no chance for the "Prygman" to find anything here

So, the next time you start to pour a low-suds detergent into your washing machine — pause — and lift your cup in a silent toast to your courageous predecessors in 'Ye goode olde days"!

Vegetable Sauce

For something unusually good over vegetables serve green pepper sauce. Brown three strips of bacon in a skillet. Remove and crumble the bacon pieces Pour off fat and measure back into the skillet three tablespoons bacon fat In bacon drippings, saute until tender, one chopped green pepper and one chopped pimiento Add the crumbled bacon and pour the pepper sauce over the prepared vegetables to serve.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 573-M, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

Non-Food Items Take Big Share Of Food Dollar

The supermarket is just the old general store in modern dress The trend is back to one-stop shopping like great-grandma did. The convenience of buying most everything under one roof instead of shopping at the drug store, dime store, bakery, butcher and hardware store seems to appeal to today's shopper

Food sales have increased 51 per cent during the last 10 years while non-food sales in food stores have zoomed up 140 per cent according to Rosemary Stare consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin On the average about 23 cents of each dollar spent in the food store goes for non food items

Two out of three shoppers include at least one non food item in their shopping cart A man shopping alone spends the highest percentage of money for non food items Suburban shoppers purchase the most non food items city shoppers the least The older the shopper the less spent for non-food items, Mrs Stare comments

Household Supplies

Household supplies take up as much as 241 feet of shelf space in some food markets Paper products are another big seller with many stores averaging 100 different paper items

As a comparison, shelf footage for important food groups show canned vegetables take up 112 feet and cereals about 76 feet

Health and beauty aids are another big non-food seller More than half of all the toothpaste, half of all the aspirin, and almost half of all shampoo sales in the United States are in food stores This department alone contributes 21 to 40 per cent profit to the store

Food stores stock about 60 different kinds and sizes of soft drinks — both canned and bottled — and they're adding more An average supermarket sells 138 pet items — America's well fed dogs and cats consume more than $600 million worth of pet foods annually — more money than is spent for baby foods

Supermarkets are the greatest single outlet for cigarettes Housewares, clothing articles and reading materials are other big non-food sellers in grocery stores These sales have been steadily increasing, Mrs Stare says. They accounted for 11 per cent of total sales in 1948, 15 per cent in 1959, and 23 per cent today A recent report shows the average unit price for non-food items jumped from 59 cents to 69 cents in one year

A Lovelier You

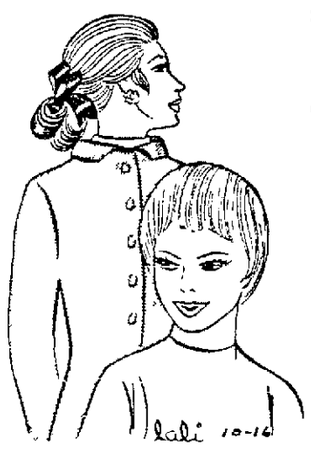
Problem Ears

A young Lovely writes. My ears are big and protuberant Not for me those short cuts with the hair cropped away at the ears I can't even get by with the new bowed-back styles I guess I am doomed to fluffy cover-ups Or am I missing a secret disguise?

The Answer: Bowed-back styles or most any off-the-face arrangements can be adapted to camouflage prominent ears Simply arrange the side hair so that it dips a bit over the top of the ear

To further the cause wear large, important earrings — any bulky shape that does not dangle Dangling earrings produce an elongated effect

Make-up also adds to the illusion of tidy ears, and powder base is the cosmetic to use.



After the face is filmed with base and make-up time, whisk the residue left on the hands onto the shell and lobes of the ears That way the color and finish of face and ears blend

Now what about short-short dos? They are altogether wearable as long as the ears are not included No law of fashion says the hair must be cut out like a donkey's hat to let the ears come through

When all disguises fail or become wearisome, plastic surgery offers a permanent solution The operation is relatively simple and recuperation time is minimal

Keep Green Thumb Active During Winter

When the frost is on the pumpkin and the gardener is in the house many a green thumb gets fidgety thinking about the five-month wait for spring You can keep that thumb active by growing house plants from seed Some of the things you grow can be set outside when spring comes others you'll keep for your window shelf Best of all you can get a whole packet of seed for most house plants for less than it would cost to buy just one already started

For example, one company lists more than thirty different varieties of house plants to grow from seed Many of these are tremendously practical for the home gardener like the fibrous-rooted double-flowered begonias which can be raised as house plants in the winter and set outside in the summer for edging a shady border If frost hasn't nipped them you can make cuttings of those you especially like and pot them for use indoors the next winter

List of Possibilities

Coleus and geraniums are two others that can be handled in the same way as begonias providing year around color Of course, the list of possibilities is quite long and you can select those things that most appeal to you

You can also grow many plants that will stay indoors all the time Seed is available for a number of African Violet varieties These have always been special indoor favorites and they can be grown with a minimum of care

Other plants that do well in the house when grown from seed are asparagus fern, calceolaria, cyclamen cineraria, cactus, gerbera, gloxinia, impatiens, lantana lobelia and primula So, if you are prone to the winter doldrums, brighten your home with house plants and keep your green thumb active by nurturing them from seed to full-grown, flowering plants

Chicago to Hold Yearly Folk Festival

The eighth annual Holiday Folk Festival will be held at Navy Pier, Chicago Saturday and Sunday The fair will be open from 11 a m to 9 p m both days

Forty different nations will be represented in a sampling of the customs and traditions that have blended into the Chicago of today

The fair will feature cultural exhibits, a food section where visitors may sample native dishes and a bazaar of handicraft and homemade articles An entertainment program has also been planned

Suspicious Timing Clue To Snare

If a stranger tried to sell you the Empire State Building you might get suspicious even if you needed a nice large office building to round out your collection. There is a time and place for such transactions, and you smell a rat when things seem to be happening at the wrong time.

A feeling for the right time helped West avoid a trap in today's hand. West opened the four of spades, East put up the king, and South won with the ace. After some thought, South returned the deuce of spades.

West's first impulse was to play low in the hope that East had the ten of spades. If West had followed his impulse, South would have rattled off the first nine tricks three spades, five diamonds and one heart

West resisted his impulse because he thought something was fishy about South's timing Why was South returning a spade instead of getting to work on dummy's diamonds?

The answer was obvious the diamonds were already set up This is almost invariably the answer when a competent declarer neglects dummy's long suit and wastes his time on side issues

West reflected that if the diamonds were already established South was probably trying to steal his ninth trick West therefore stepped up with the jack of spades and looked for a way to defeat the contract in a great hurry

Since only in clubs could the defenders hope to take four immediate tricks, West shifted to the deuce of clubs East won with the king and returned the eight of clubs, whereupon West took the rest of the suit to defeat the contract

Boy's Large Breasts Are Common Situation

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr Molner: My son, 13, has been bothered by enlarged "breasts" for over a year. Our family doctor said there is "something" which could be done but he is concerned about side effects and so prefers to let nature take its course My son's voice is changing and he is quite hairy and well-developed Is it wise to let well enough alone or can something be safely done to correct the situation? — Mrs. J. M

This condition is called gynecomastia and can appear in males in one or both breasts

The reason? The so-called male and female hormones are present in both sexes Estrogen, the female hormone, is dominant in women but men produce some Androgen, the male hormone, is dominant in males but women have some

At puberty the dominance of the appropriate hormone is not always established It is thought that gynecomastia or enlarged breast tissue, in young boys is due to some excess of the female hormone

Eventually this corrects itself and breast size decreases to normal (When gynecomastia occurs in older men, a more serious endocrine — glandular — disorder may be present, and suitable treatment for it must be considered.)

But among boys? This is a more common situation than a good many people realize A study at a Boy Scout camp in New York was reported recently

It covered 1 890 boys aged 11 to 16 and 38 per cent — more than one-third — showed some degree of gynecomastia

Fat boys were excluded from the study to avoid mistaking overweight for gynecomastia

In about two years the breast enlargement had disappeared in these boys without any treatment.

On the basis of this interesting study, no treatment is necessary. You should reassure your son, and encourage him to continue sports and other normal activities with the expectation that within a couple of years and perhaps less his problem probably will have taken care of itself.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a granddaughter 14 months old who has yet to get her first tooth. Is this rare or could there be something wrong? — Mrs. M.

There can be considerable variation in the age at which teeth erupt but it is uncommon for the first tooth to be as late as 14 months. Usually it is about eight or nine months, girls somewhat earlier than boys.

One possible explanation would be some nutritional deficiency. Only in very rare instances are the tooth buds absent This situation should be discussed with the child's doctor or your dentist.

Dear Dr Molner Would having a D and C help me become pregnant, and what does D and C mean? — Mrs L. F

It might help It might also give some indication of what, if anything is wrong D and C means dilation and curettage — dilating the cervix so an instrument can be used to scrape the inner surface of the uterus. Sometimes a previous miscarriage may have left tissue clinging to the uterus, thus interfering with subsequent pregnancies

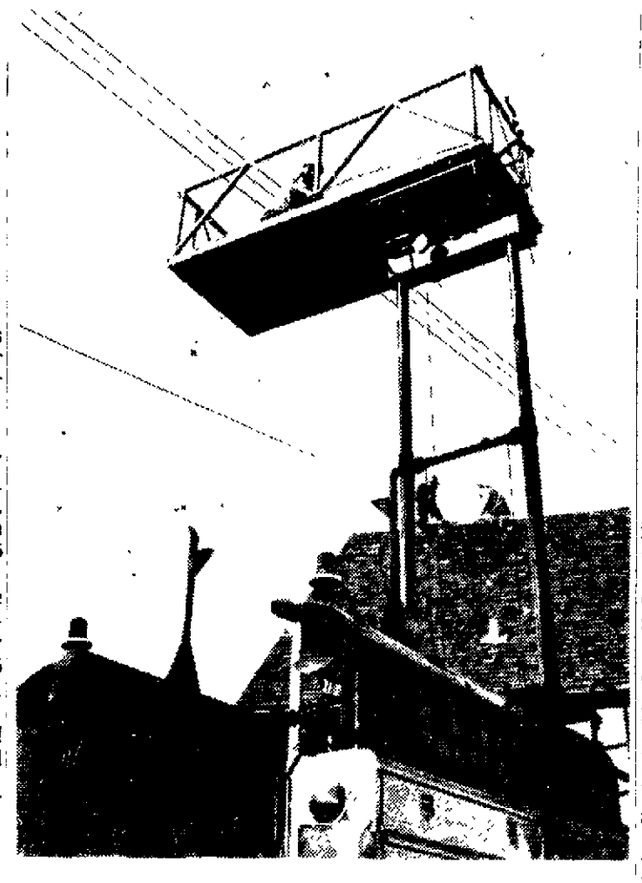
Tarr Group Told

Counties Pay in More Than They Get Back In State Shared Taxes



Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Wisconsin counties which pay into the state treasury more funds than they receive in shared taxes and aids might be better off raising their own revenues and financing most local government services directly, the Tarr Task Force was told Monday.

The state's study committee on local governmental organization and shared tax redistribution eventually will have to consider the problem, the unit was told by Dr. C. K. Alexander, research director for the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance.

A number of counties, including most in the Fox River Valley, pay into the state treasury more funds in a year than are received back in present shared tax distribution systems and through state aids for education, highways, and other governmental functions.

Expensive Aids

It costs Outagamie County $1.23 in tax payments to earn $1 in shared taxes and state aids, Alexander pointed out. Brown County taxpayers must pay $1.25 to earn a single dollar back.

Calumet County taxpayers are charged $1.31, Winnebago County $1.17, Manitowoc County $1.18, Fond du Lac County $1.05 and La Crosse County $1.10, according to Alexander.

Milwaukee County is charged $1.23 per $1 of state aids and shared taxes, Alexander said.

Appleton Plant Will Move To Town of Grand Chute

$250,000 Building Planned

Pacon Corp., a paper converting company located at 415 S. Oneida St., Appleton, will move its operations to the Town of Grand Chute and build a new $250,000 plant.

The plans were revealed Tuesday morning when the Outagamie County Board was asked to rezone 35 acres of land fronting on Casaloma Drive and along the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks from agricultural to heavy industry.

The change was approved 43-2 with Supvs. Patrick Mares and Ralph Schwartz, both of Appleton, casting the dissenting votes. Mares said he was not objecting to the rezoning as such, but to the procedure. He said the county board should not have to be making constant changes in the zoning districts.

"We should make a plan and then live with it," he said.

Mares was referring to an objection to the rezoning filed by Paul Rieden, 2335 Casaloma Drive, who said that when he built his home a year ago he was assured the area would be developed residentially.

Gerald Van Hoof, president of Pacon Corp., said he did not believe the plant would lower residential values but would, instead, increase them because plant employes would probably seek to build in that area. He added that because the plant converted paper, there were no obnoxious odors or excessive noises connected with the operation.

Supv. Bernard Tillman, Grand Chute, chairman of the Board of Adjustment Zoning ordinance, told supervisors that if the land was not rezoned, the company would move to Winnebago County. It was later indicated the firm had looked at sites in the Town of Menasha.

The company employs about 70 people, Van Hoof said. At present they operate two shifts, but may reduce that to one shift with new machinery in the new plant to eliminate the objections to residential area traffic at night. The number of employes would remain the same, however.

No indication was given by Van Hoof when the firm intends to start construction.

City's $17.8 Million Budget Stands Almost as Proposed

Examiners Cut Only $5,000 From Record High Request

City budget examiners — having cut only $5,000 in two nights of deliberations — have a long way to go in tackling the $17.8 million in requests for 1968.

Budgets of the city attorney, public library and park, recreation and forestry divisions were reviewed during a four-hour session Monday night.

Slated for close scrutiny tonight are appropriation requests of the fire and police departments.

Monday night's high points were:

—Approval of a policy to have the city attorney charge the school district $1,000 annually for legal services, including consultations and lawsuits.

Possible Resolution

—A suggestion, which may be submitted in resolution form to the city council next week, to have the public library charge a fee for library cards. A policy library officials said is "unheard of in the state and possibly the nation".

—Approved a $76,000 expenditure for new lights at Goodland Field, putting the capital improvement into a bond issue anticipated for 1968.

—Elimination of a $1,300 request by the library for a microfilm printer, which would cost about $2,000 and be eligible for federal funds making up the difference.

—Rejection of a suggestion — not included as a budget item —

Claim Fee Too High

School Pool Rent Increase Dismays Recreation Group

Because of excessive rental fees requested by the board of education, the $300,000 swimming pool at Appleton High School-East will not be a community-wide facility, it was disclosed Monday night.

Recreation Director Lloyd Koehnke said he was informed by the school board it would cost his department $22,800 a year, based on a fee schedule of $20 per hour, to rent the pool.

In addition, it would cost the department another $10,000 to hire lifeguards, instructors and other supervisory personnel.

Thus, a public swimming program at the $5.3 million school on the city's far southside would cost the recreation department $32,800 for a 10-week summer program and community swimming 16 hours a week during fall and winter months, Koehnke said.

Assumed Use

"I was under the assumption this pool would be for community use but we can't pay that kind of money," Koehnke declared.

Members of the council's finance committee, who were reviewing 1968 budget requests, shook their heads and made caustic comments directed at the school board.

Koehnke said because it was unrealistic he had not even included it in his departmental budget for 1968, and instead brought the proposal in as a separate item to get the committee's reaction.

"So we will have the swimming pool out there but still can't use it," remarked Ald. James Bethke (9th), "it's a bad thing."

Koehnke and members of the park-recreation commission did not hide their disappointment.

Features Not Conducive

At one point Koehnke told the committee some physical features of the pool, which is to be put into use by school officials about Jan. 1, were "not conducive to good swimming programs" but said he did not elaborate.

The $20 per hour fee set by school officials for use of the pool by the recreation department would cover janitorial expense, pro-rated salary of the pool director and other fixed expenses.

"We met with the people at East High and discussed the time situation and we could take what time was left," Koehnke said, "but not at that price."

Koehnke also said school officials set a maximum figure of 80 persons — children or adults — that could use the pool at one time. A complete outline of fees and policies set by school officials for the swimming facility is contained in a Sept. 20 memorandum prepared by William Pickett, director of physical education, health and safety for the public school district.

The high school pool would be

Budget Talks Involve City Motor Pool

Appleton Committee Questions Purchase, Use of Equipment

City budget examiners asked Monday night what progress, if any, has been made toward establishing a motor pool for all municipal vehicles and equipment.

The matter was to be discussed again today at a meeting of the board of public works.

Ald. John Stendl (18th) said he saw no reason why city departments, the school board, park and recreation commission and other bodies should be ordering and using equipment on a separate basis.

Repeats Criticism

A year ago the finance committee, which reviews budget requests, was critical of overlapping equipment purchases. It recommended then that a sur-

Comprehensive VTE-12 Study Expected Soon

Information to Guide Board in Planning School

Present population, enrollment and economic conditions plus projections into future will be included in a report to be submitted within two weeks to the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) board for use in planning the area school.

In a preliminary presentation Monday, Max Anderson Associates, Madison, planning consultants, informed the board that the final report will include all these statistics which will be converted into data on space requirements.

"We have pulled together all the information in existence and from this we are able to predict where the center of population as well as the center of equalized valuation in the 8-county area will be by 1980," Anderson said.

The board will use these figures to plan the future area vocational school and possibly satellite schools.

In other business, William Sirek, VTE-12 director, was authorized to negotiate with Oshkosh, Appleton and Neenah for equipment and facility rental in vocational schools, which now belong to the cities.

Negotiations Needed

For lack of precedent, the board felt negotiations are necessary since criteria on what to base the rental fee has to be

Appleton United Givers Have Fourth of $313,246 Goal

At the first formal report meeting since the beginning of the United Givers campaign Oct. 2, volunteers turned in a total of $80,388, 25.6 per cent of the $313,246 goal for 19 red feather agencies.

Leading the nine divisions was large firms under the chairmanship of Henry Bailey and C. Andree Pertain with $67,641, 34 per cent of its $198,334 quota.

Second high division was general, under the leadership of Mrs. W. B. Thompson with $2,832, 19.5 per cent of a $14,488 quota. Construction division under Lloyd Jack and Roy Winter came in with $2,201 or 14.5 per cent and professional under Don C. Smith and Paul Tepper was fourth with $2,256 or 13.6 per cent of a $16,550 quota.

The second report meeting is scheduled for 4:02 p.m. Monday at the Michigan Room of the Conway Motor Hotel.

During the week, reports may be dropped off at the United Givers office at the Oneida Street entrance of the Conway.

Police Question Trio on Golf Club Vandalism

Three Appleton boys, ages 10 to 13, have been questioned by city police on vandalism reported at the Riverview Country Club on South Oneida Street last weekend.

Oscar Behnke, 530 N. Laine, and Gilbert H. Bratz, 130 E. McKinley, greens keepers, told police that a woodpile next to the workshop had been torn down and that pumpkins had been smashed on a driveway.

Helen Moore, 1335½ S. Oneida St., and her daughter, Diane, 7, told police they saw the vandalism take place about 8 p.m. Saturday.

The three youths, two of them brothers, were questioned by police Monday but denied taking part in the vandalism.

Authorities said that if the vandals are caught, they will be required to clean up the mess.

Car Stolen From Appleton Garage

Theft of an auto from a garage at 1710 E. Lindbergh St., Appleton, was reported to city police Tuesday morning by Shelly J. Smith.

Smith said the theft occurred between 11 p.m. Monday and 5 a.m. Tuesday. He said the keys had been left in the car.

He described the car as a 1966 light blue Oldsmobile with 1968 Wisconsin license plates, R-36-899.

Appleton's Needs

Housing Survey Shows Senior Citizen Apathy

Appleton's senior citizens have been apathetic to a citywide survey being made of the housing and other needs of persons — working or retired — over 62 years of age.

The report came today from representatives of the subcommittee of the United Community Services, Inc. (UCS).

The group, assisted by the members of the Golden Age Club and local chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, has distributed between 2,500 and 3,000 questionnaires throughout the community.

Information compiled from the forms will be used in making an appraisal of Appleton's housing needs for the elderly. Some information will be turned over to the Housing Authority while other data can be used in planning programs for older residents.

Realtors Assisting

Also assisting with the survey is the Appleton Board of Realtors which has also expressed an interest in housing needs, both private and public.

It was disclosed that only about 200 completed questionnaires have been returned to the USC office — a disappointing figure based on original estimates.

"The form has been worded so as to give residents an opportunity to put on paper what they feel the needs for the elderly are in Appleton," a survey official said.

"Actually, this is a challenge for our senior citizens to speak up and we hope they take advantage of it," he added.

All information is confidential and those returning completed questionnaires need not sign them, it was emphasized.

Fair Weather Prevails in Fox Cities

What more could the Fox Cities want for mid-October? Those of us who aren't duck and goose hunters, that is. They certainly cheered at the cloudy, drizzly days we had last week.

But then, they had their weekend.

Monday and today Appleton is enjoying pleasant, sunny skies and temperatures in the 60s.

Fair weather prevailed in the state Monday night after a sunny day in which mercury pushed to 65 at La Crosse, 63 at Eau Claire and Burlington, 62 at Lone Rock and Appleton, 61 at Madison and Beloit, 60 at Green Bay, Wausau and Park Falls, 60, Superior 59, Milwaukee 58 and Racine 57.

A cool 29 was recorded at Lone Rock during the night. Madison had 30, Green Bay 36, Eau Claire 38, Appleton and Milwaukee 40, Racine 42 and Park Falls 43.

No precipitation was recorded anywhere in Wisconsin in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

Motor Scooter Parked On Front Lawn Stolen

A motor scooter was reported stolen sometime Monday night from Mrs. Charles Hoeppner, 1319 Ritger St., Appleton.

She told police the scooter was tan colored and carried 1965 Wisconsin license plate number 24679. She said the scooter had been left in the front yard overnight.

Why I Give To The United Givers

"In a time when communities minute by minute become more populous—more complex—more subject to change, old-fashioned neighborliness becomes less likely. Red Feather agencies in their coordinated fund drive give us an opportunity to be good and concerned neighbors, on a community-wide scale.

"Even if I don't know my next door neighbor, I can express my concern for his problems by my participation in support of Red Feather agencies."

Fire Leaves Shell of House On U. S. 10

Town of Greenville Couple, 10 Children Lose All Belongings

Fire, it was learned today, nearly destroyed the home of a Town of Greenville man, his wife and ten children Saturday night. The home is located on U. S. 10, about two miles west of Appleton.

The interior of the house and its contents, owned by Harlan Verhagen, were "almost 100 per cent destroyed," according to Chief Lawrence Moder of the Town of Greenville Volunteer Fire Department. Moder said Verhagen had "a little" insurance on the building.

Verhagen could not be reached for comment, but Moder said he and his family probably were staying with relatives in Appleton.

Verhagen is a painter at Consolidated Papers Inc., of Appleton. Co-workers at the plant said he had not reported for work yet this week.

Moder said more than a dozen firemen battled the blaze from about 8:30 p.m. until midnight Saturday. The fire originated in the second floor of the two-story structure.

Moder said although little damage was done to the outside of the structure, most of the inside and its contents were destroyed.

Moder said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

New ShopKo Will Open On Thursday

MENASHA — The 100,000 square foot ShopKo Discount Department Store, located on State 47 at Valley Road in the Town of Menasha, will open for business at 1 p.m., Thursday.

The building, which includes "58 departments under one roof," will feature clothing, hardware, sporting goods, electronics, photographic equipment. A grocery outlet, operated by Copp's, Inc., won't be ready until the grand opening, scheduled for Nov 1

The store will face Valley Road and will have parking space for 500 cars in paved lots.

Construction began on the one-story brick and block building in late April.

It marks the fifth ShopKo store in Northeastern Wisconsin The company also operates the Copp's stores in Oshkosh and Manitowoc and two ShopKo stores in Green Bay.

Post Office System Costs Town, Kampo

MENASHA — Town Chairman Roland Kampo criticized the system of establishing post offices and claimed the town has lost $11,000 in the past year for being split up between three post offices.

He pointed to tiny communities which had their own post offices and said Town of Menasha residents and industries were divided between Appleton, Neenah and Menasha post offices.

The town loses money when mistakes are made in tax and fee forms sent into the state, he said. Thus, he explained, the municipality's share is sent back to the wrong community.

Kampo said the town's auditing firm had discovered $33,000 in mis-appropriations. However, since the Green Bay company receives one-third of the total, the discovery cost the town $11,000.

Even more money is lost, Kampo said, since the auditors don't check on license fees or on fire insurance rebates.

Huge New School Budget Approved by Menasha Board

MENASHA — After one minor alteration, the Menasha Board of Education gave its official approval to a 1968 school budget of $2,018,130, an increase of 25 per cent over 1967.

Additions to the budget expenditures for 1968 totalled $12,700 and were made in three areas. First was the provision of one third of the salary of the assistant superintendent, $4,500 The second item was one third of the annual salary of an elementary principal, or $3,500.

The final increase was $4,770 for the estimated cost of housing three school buses. No specifics were given as to where garage space is available. Two buses will be added to the fleet on Jan. 1, 1968, when the district begins to transport non-public school children.

The local tax revenue required in 1968, according to the proposed budget which was approved by three of the four board members present, will be $1,756,920. This is an increase of $353,180, to be apportioned among the taxpayers of the City and Town of Menasha.

Joint Council Meeting

Aldermen Skeptical on COG Study

MENASHA — Aldermen from two common councils showed skepticism in questions they directed Monday night to Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, as he defended a COG survey of valley-wide sewer, water and refuse disposal needs.

Elected heads of the 3 COG member governments meet next Tuesday to decide whether to carry out the survey. Their meeting was delayed two weeks to allow time for Monday Night's joint council session with Franchette. The two councils meet separately tonight and are expected to indicate how their mayors should vote.

The survey, Franchette explained, would be financed through a $150,000 federal grant and $75,000 to be contributed by the local communities, and would yield a 5 to 10 year improvement program and a 20-year forecast of needs. Menasha would be assessed $8,025, Neenah $12,300, as their shares of the local cost.

Tax Question

Mayors Kenneth Holmes of Menasha and Carl Loehning of Neenah and aldermen from both cities asked questions showing concern that they would be forced to use tax revenues from their own cities to pay for something that might be of greater benefit to communities paying less.

They also questioned the value of the proposed survey in view of studies conducted in both cities before recent expansion programs were carried out in local water plants and the Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant.

Other questions revealed worry that the survey would recommend area-wide systems to meet future needs, after the local communities have already invested in their independent plants and facilities.

One alderman suggested that the information from previous studies could be gathered together and experts could "throw them together quite readily." Franchett replied that this was not the case, that it would be "not an easy matter" to compile all figures from separate studies and produce a usable plan for area-wide development

Franchett declared, "There is no question in our minds that this program is in the public interest."

He said the survey was considered timely by COG planners because federal fund grants for construction of sewer, water and refuse facilities in the future will be available only to communities that have taken part in planning for their entire urban areas.

He added that a long-range plan for the valley region was completed in 1962 and is due to be brought up to date.

Franchett also assured the officials that the proposal was only for a plan that carrying it out still would be a matter for the elected head of each COG member government to vote upon He said that the plan would be used to pinpoint future areas of need.

Menasha Town To Vote 'No' On COG Study

Prior Guidelines On Annexations, Costs Demanded

MENASHA — The Town of Menasha wants some satisfactory answers from the Fox Valley Council of Governments. Otherwise, its vote on the regional-wide sewer, water and refuse disposal survey will be "no."

Town Chairman Roland Kampo, noting the study would be valueless unless prior guidelines are worked out concerning annexation and service costs, said. "Until we get some answers, we vote no."

The regional study will cost an estimated $225,000, with the federal government picking up two-thirds of the cost and the remaining $75,000 to be divided between the COG members in the Valley The Town of Menasha's share is $6,900.

Kampo stated the cities have ordinances on the books saying they would not extend services to outlying areas unless they annex

If the survey shows that one municipality should serve an adjacent area, but the cities won't extend services without annexation, "There's no use in spending $225,000." Kampo said.

He also was suspicious that the survey could result in a cutoff of aids for new sewer and water services. "This could be another lever for annexation," he added.

Kampo called for an agreement, prior to the study, where the cities would repeal their "no service-without-annexation" ordinances if the survey showed one municipality should extend sewer or water to another community.

He also said the assessment on a possible region-wide sewer system should be based on service received and not on the total equalized value of an area. If the sewer system would cross municipal boundaries, the service should be metered, Kampo added. "Then it would be a good idea."

"We haven't a lot to gain," he stated, pointing to a survey which already has been done for the town.

Votes on Building Sought by Kampo

MENASHA — Town Chairman Roland Kampo, alarmed by the upward trend in school costs, called for a referendum on all school construction expenditures exceeding $150,000.

Kampo fell the increases registered in the area school budgets could be held down if the citizens were brought into the question on large items.

Thus, bond issues for new buildings would first have to meet the approval of the voters and the school boards would have to fully inform the electorate of future school plans, he said.

County to Retain Ponath in 1968

Board Votes 37-8 to Continue Counsel on Year-to-Year Basis

A. W. Ponath, Outagamie County corporation counsel, will be retained in his position through the end of 1968, the County Board decided this morning by a 37-8 vote.

The issue of Ponath's employment was brought to the board floor in a resolution signed by 10 supervisors after the executive committee had discussed hiring either an assistant for Ponath or a new corporation counsel and putting Ponath on a retainer basis for next year. Ponath is over the county's mandatory retirement age of 65 and is continued in his job on a year-to-year basis.

An effort by Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, to have the resolution held over until the November session of the board was defeated 34-11

Say Timing Poor

Several members of the executive committee felt the resolution was poorly timed and resulted from a misunderstanding of the executive committee's intention.

Kaukauna Supv. Russell DeLa-Hunt said he agrees that Ponath should be continued in his job because of the various litigations the county is involved in which only Ponath can finish. However, he said, he feels Ponath still needs an assistant because of the case load in his office Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, also said there never had been any talk of dismissing Ponath, because he is too valuable to the county, but that he does need help.

Called Discriminatory

Supv. George Greisch, another member of the executive committee, called the resolution discriminatory against other county employes who also are over the mandatory retirement age He said all employes in that situation should be considered as a group.

Kloes also disputed whether Ponath has done a good job for the county, citing the numerous extra legal fees the county has incurred in various lawsuits when outside counsel was hired.

"His time has run out," Kloes said.

In a companion action, the board approved by a 40-4 vote an additional $1,000 appropriation for legal fees for Stewart Honeck, who is representing the county in the Northeastern Wisconsin University site dispute.

Counties Lose Money on Plan Of Tax Sharing

Towns Benefit

Surveying state Department of Revenue tax collection and distribution figures, Assemblyman Raymond J. Tobiasz, D-Milwaukee, reported that towns pay in 22 per cent of state tax collections, but receive 28 per cent of shared funds and state aids.

"Do we have too much government and are we paying for it?" he asked Alexander.

That too is a policy question the task force, headed by Lawrence University President Curtis Tarr must face before it completes its deliberations and reports its findings to the 1969 Legislature, said Alexander.

Governmental costs in general are not caused by the type of government involved — town, village or city — but rather by the size of the unit involved, said Alexander

"The more congested the area, the greater are the demands for services," said Tarr

Ranks Fourth

Wisconsin ranks fourth in the nation among states on the percentage of governmental funds spent locally, but 25th in the amount raised locally

The funds are primarily raised by the state and sent back to localities, giving rise to the possibility of charging some counties more than $1 in state aids and shared taxes.

Turning his attentions to the shared utility tax, which generates about $45 million a year — $38 million of which is returned to the localities in which the utilities are located — Alexander warned the task force not to become too concerned with the basically small portion of tax distribution problems.

"Too many committees in the past have gotten off on this utility tax question and the tails wagged the dogs," he said.

The tax is not distributed on the basis of sales and service areas, but solely on a geographical basis.

"I hope this committee doesn't let the tail wag the whole distribution question," Alexander said.

Tarr Comments

The task force must consider any problem of inequity, no matter how small, Tarr said

Eau Claire County Judge Thomas Barland warned that the question is highly political, and that there is little chance to change the system that exists The committee should suggest changing the distribution systems of taxes from nuclear power plants, he suggested.

"We're just on the verge of a breakthrough," he said, pointing to power plant development in the Town of Two Creeks in Manitowoc County.

Secretary of Revenue James R. Morgan disagreed, arguing that all utility tax distribution problems be studied and changes suggested. "We have an equity problem here," he said.

used mostly for instructional classes if the recreation department should ever be able to afford to use it, Koehnke said.

The committee advised that a $32,800 appropriation for a community swim program at East High could not even be given consideration because of the amount.

However, it did okay budgets of $28.622 for Meade and $26.072 for Erb Park pools in the coming year.

Also approved was the $64.531 operations budget for Reid Municipal Golf Course which is expected to be self-sustaining through revenue from golf fees.

At one point Koehnke was asked why the recreation department did not use school diamonds for baseball leagues and the director indicated the terms set by school officials were "too restrictive".

He also said rental of rooms at public schools by the recreation department has been increased from $2 25 to $5 50 per hour for each room adding to budget costs

Firemen Answer Two Minor Weekend Calls

KAUKAUNA — Firemen answered two routine calls, neither resulting in damage, over the weekend

At 3:30 p.m. Saturday firemen extinguished a grass fire, started by children, off Plank Road near Murphy's Quarry and at 11 a.m. Sunday they were called for an overheated bearing box on a Chicago and North Western Railway box car near the north-side depot.

to construct two tennis courts at Hoover Park for $12,000.

Geenen's budget was the second received by the committee which asked for a lower appropriation in the coming year. Hee seeks $22.876 compared to $23,439 this year.

With reference to the library budget, the committee gave special attention to the revenue the city was receiving from out-of-city users versus the number

Strongly Opposed

And Librarian Gordon Bebeau was strongly opposed to charging a fee to city residents for library cards, contending their tax dollars bought the books.

Budget examiners said next year's $499,999 park-recreation commission budget — it was $356 000 this year — represented the highest increase in appropriation requests reviewed to date

Except for the transfer of the Goodland Field lights to a bond issue, minor revisions were made to the overall package

At one point, however, aldermen questioned why the commission and school board obtained separate bids for blacktopping and other paving instead of including them in the citywide contract vey be made of all municipal equipment and feasibility of establishing a motor pool.

"I think the time has come to find out just what has been done," commented Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), committee chairman, who has advocated a citywide pool for some time.

There have been previous suggestions that an equipment pool be operated out of the new municipal service garage where city equipment is maintained and stored.

Halt Purchases

The finance committee said some equipment purchases in 1968 budget requests would be held in abeyance until the status of the motor pool project is ascertained.

Faced with a $17 3 million city budget and a whopping tax rate increase, the city council may be forced to order creation of a motor pool and centralized purchasing.

Under the present setup, departments, boards and commissions purchase their own equipment rather than taking bids on quantity orders

Cup, Silverware Gone After Thieves Enter Home for Second Time

A home at 209 W Spring St., Appleton, was broken into over the weekend for the second time in a week A cup and three pieces of silverware were the only items listed as missing

Ronald Norenbert told city police that he and his wife were gone from 6 30 p m. Friday to 9 p.m. Sunday, when the break-in is thought to have occurred

Police said the kitchen cupboard and gauges on a waffle iron were smashed, glasses knocked over, and all upstairs windows of the house were found opened. The Norenbergs said they had locked them. Pillows and blankets also were found on the floor upstairs.

Police said there was no sign of a forced entry.

established by both parties involved.

An inventory list on the furniture and equipment in the schools will be compiled and will be used by an impartial appraiser to establish the rental fee.

This list will include the date of acquisition, purchase price, federal or state subsidy, if any, and depreciation.

Renting of facilities brought up some questions since many factors had to be taken into account.

"What is fair rental value may depend on what kind of use the city may have for the buildings, where it is located, how old it is and in what condition," Sirek said.

Uniform Criteria

However, he added, "we must have uniform criteria to base the rental fee," and suggested that a per-square-foot basis might be used for negotiations.

The three schools are used on a full-time basis but a number of classes will be established in outlying areas, where board-owned facilities will be used.

Sirek also plans to meet with superintendents and members of the boards from these school districts to discuss the rental fee for rooms to be used on a part-time basis

All VTE-12 board members felt that despite varying board policies in the districts, a joint meeting might bring a uniform fee

C. G Russell Johnson, chairman of the board, appointed Frank Sprister, Appleton Harland Kirschner, Clintonville, and Donald Steinfort, Oshkosh, to a salary committee, which will meet and negotiate with the teachers' group for a new schedule

Administration Witnesses

Cabinet Plunging Into Fight Against Limits on Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is hustling five Cabinet members up to Capitol Hill Wednesday for a fight against moves to limit imports.

Protectionist sentiment has brought on proposals to limit imports of such diverse products as zinc, ground fish, furs and baseball gloves.

State Department officials say more than two-fifths of U.S. imports—which totaled about $25 billion last year—would be affected if all the proposed limitations were adopted.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will head the administration witnesses before the Senate Finance Committee. Cabinet mates Alexander B. Trowbridge of Commerce, W. Willard Wirtz of Labor, Orville L. Freeman of Agriculture and Stewart L. Udall of Interior also are listed for testimony.

So is William M. Roth, President Johnson's special representative for trade negotiations, who handled much of the dealings during the Geneva tariff talks. They ended earlier this year with agreement among principal non-Communist traders on a wide variety of tariff cuts.

The State Department said Rusk's "decision to appear personally underlines the seriousness of the current protectionist threat to the continued prosperity of the American people and the foreign relations of the United States."

It called the various import limitation plans an attempt to reserve the U.S. policy of eliminating trade barriers by negotiations with other countries.

Social Security Bill

The current hearings are on proposals by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader, to attach a variety of import quotas to a pending Social Security bill.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, has cosponsored an oil import quota bill but said Monday he hopes it will not be attached to the Social Security bill.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., introduced a steel import measure Monday.

Quota backers figure they must attach their plans to some bill wanted by President Johnson, otherwise he could simply veto the legislation.

One-Hour Difference Blocks Hauler Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Strikers and trucking companies appeared to be only one hour apart today on the crucial wait-time issue in the violent strike of steel haulers.

It brought a flicker of hope—but also indications that the one-hour difference could prove to be a tough obstacle.

Howard Miller, chairman of the 68-company National Steel Carriers Association, said his group probably would accept a revised plan worked out by governor' representatives of seven states.

It calls for steel haulers to get paid $13.70 for every hour they wait at steel mills for their trucks to be loaded beyond four hours They would wait free the first four hours.

3-Hour Wait

A spokesman for the 10,000 to 20,000 strikers said striking independent haulers probably would accept the same amount of money, but with only three hours free wait time.

"With three hours and the same money, the trucks would be back on the road by next week," he said "I'll bet on it."

But one striker expressed bitterness over the revision, saying, "Every time we go back into the conference room we get hosed down "

Last week the association rejected an earlier plan approved by the strikers in seven states.

Present Plan

"We are of the opinion that our previous objections have been eliminated," Miller said Monday night He announced that the modified plan would be presented to the association's board of directors in Chicago Wednesday.

Daniel Berger, an attorney for the strikers, declined to say whether the revised plan would be put to a vote by strikers.

To press their demands, the strikers have virtually halted the highway movement of steel, putting a stranglehold on the industry which ships about 50 per cent of its steel by truck.

Violence has flared almost every day since the strike heated up five weeks ago.

Convict-Service Station Employe Foils Robbery

MANITOWOC (AP) — Robert Sterwalt, 22, a service station attendant when he's not a prisoner in the county jail, broke his hand Monday with a blow that foiled a robbery attempt, police said.

Sterwalt, allowed under Wisconsin law to hold a regular job despite a forgery conviction if he reports back to jail after work, punched a would-be bandit in the face. The bandit fled.

Police said Sterwalt furnished them with a description.

Conspiracy Trial Date Set for Shaw

Accused Plotter in Assassination to Get February Hearing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The trial of Clay L. Shaw, charged with conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, has been set for mid-February but the defense has indicated a change of venue will be sought.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A Haggerty chose the February trial date Monday as a compromise between the office of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, which asked for a speedy hearing, and the defense, which wanted a six-month delay.

Chief defense counsel F Irving Dymond then said he will probably seek to move the trial to another city because, he said, Garrison made "a lot of prejudicial and inflammatory statements" about the case "that would certainly prejudice jurors "

The scheduled date is nearly a year after Shaw was arrested and accused by Garrison of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to assassinate the President. Shaw, 53, a retired business executive, has pleaded innocent.

Murder Arraignment Set in Rockwell Death

ARLINGTON, Va (AP) — John Patler will be arraigned Thursday on a murder charge in the slaying of George Lincoln Rockwell, self-styled fuehrer of the American Nazi Party

Patler, once a storm trooper in the party, was indicted Monday by an Arlington County grand jury He is accused of shooting Rockwell 49 in the chest Aug 25 outside a laundromat near the party's Arlington headquarters

He has been held without bond since a preliminary hearing Aug 28. Patler has contended he is innocent.

War Widow Bilked of Life Savings

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The 20-year-old widow of a Vietnam war casualty is broke because she trusted a man in uniform.

Mrs Lucy McCorkle had been receiving monthly checks from the Army since her husband was killed. She saved $1,579.

She said a man dressed in a soldier's uniform came to see her a week ago. He told her that she had been receiving the checks by mistake—that they should have gone to another Mrs. McCorkle in Greenboro whose husband had been killed a month earlier.

Mrs. McCorkle went to the bank, withdrew the $1,579 and gave it to the man She quoted him as saying he would be back with her money once he straightened things out at the Pentagon

He didn't return Army officials, contacted by the Gaston County police, said they don't know who the man was and that there is not a widowed Mrs McCorkle in Greensboro.

These Three Are Des Moines policemen rigged out as two women and an elderly man in hopes of luring muggers and purse-snatchers who have plagued residents of Iowa's capital recently. The ruse worked Saturday when a youth tried to take a purse from the "woman" at right, who actually is Patrolman Bruce Brown, a judo expert. The youth was quickly captured. (AP Wirephoto)

Romney to Testify

'Brainwash' to be Explained

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney has accepted a congressional invitation to amplify charges he was "brainwashed" by U.S. military and diplomatic leaders in South Vietnam.

"I believe a full congressional review would be very appropriate," Romney said Monday in accepting by letter the invitation of Chairman Wayne L Hays, D-Ohio, of the House foreign operations subcommittee.

Romney generated a political furor recently with his charge he was "brainwashed" during a visit to Saigon in 1965. He later explained he felt military and diplomatic sources failed to give him an accurate picture of the war's progress.

No date has been set for any appearance by Romney before the House panel.

U.S. programs of aid to South Vietnamese civilian victims of the war came under attack meanwhile from Chairman Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearing. Kennedy, whose panel has probed care of civilians affected by the war, said: "The job just isn't getting done "

William S. Gaud, administrator for the Agency for International Development, which handles the civilian care program, responded to Kennedy's statement: "For heaven's sake, I haven't said or intend to say this program is being operated 100 per cent perfectly, but I do say there has been improvement."

In other Vietnam-related developments·

—Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., urged his colleagues in a Senate speech to study proposals made in an article by former White House aide Theodore Sorensen In his first public statement on the war, Sorensen urged an indefinite suspension of U.S bombing of North Vietnam

—Former Rep. Walter Judd, a Minnesota Republican, told newsmen he gave President Johnson an optimistic report on Vietnam. But Judd also told reporters outside the White House "Our zeal for negotiation is reducing or chances of getting it."

Milwaukee Council Moves To Break Housing Deadlock

MILWAUKEE (AP)— A compromise committee of aldermen and citizens was created Monday night in the Common Council's first official move to break an open housing deadlock that has persisted through 50 consecutive nights of Negro demonstrations.

The creation of the 11-member committee weighted 6-5 in favor of open housing advocates was called the "first ray of hope" by Alderman Vel Phillips, the only Negro member of the 19-member Milwaukee Common Council

The action came after a six-hour hearing before the council's Judiciary Committee The hearing, which drew more than 600 persons, focused on three proposals to end the impasse, including a new version of a Mrs Phillips-backed ordinance rejected four times in the past

The committee rejected all three measures, including one offered by Mayor Henry Maier that would have Milwaukee adopt an open housing code contingent on enactment of similar codes in at least 14 of the city's suburbs.

The final proposal would have put the Common Council on record in favor of the open housing principle but left its application to voluntary action.

The Rev James E Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest who has led the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in nightly marches since late August, declined comment on the compromise plan.

After it was announced, the Youth Council held a two-hour meeting, then resumed demonstrations for another night.

Mrs Phillips, the only alderman ever to vote for a Milwaukee open housing law, was named to the special committee along with four of her council colleagues Five of six citizen members of the panel will be chosen by groups already on record in favor of Mrs Phillips' ordinance.

The special committee proposal came from Alderman Rod Lanser, who has already announced he will oppose Mayor Maier in next spring's election Lanser said the committee should be "locked in a room until an answer is found "

The special committee was expected to begin meeting as soon as possible Some hope was held that the meetings could begin by the weekend.

No Settlement

Ford, UAW Break Extended Session

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. early today ended their longest bargaining session since the union struck Sept. 7.

After meeting for more than 16 hours at Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn, the bargainers broke off their talks at 3:15 a.m., ending hopes that they were engaged in round-the-clock discussions which would herald an agreement on a new contract.

They planned to meet again today at 11 a m

Walter P Reuther, UAW president, and Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president for labor relations, were expected to lead their negotiators back to the table

Despite the length of the session, and an optimistic statement issued Monday night, there was no solid evidence that a settlement would come today or even in the next few days.

The joint statement described the negotiations "as serious, good-faith collective bargaining "

It was the first statement issued through a news blackout since the two sides announced last Friday that the company had made a new contract offer and that the union had responded with a counterproposal

It was issued as negotiators took an hour break for dinner and came shortly after a bargaining table source told The Associated Press that the company appeared to be bending on the union's No. 1 demand—guaranteed annual income.

The bargaining table source said that Ford had given an "inkling" of willingness to meet the demand for guaranteed annual income.

But he said that no figures had been laid on the table by Monday afternoon.

Ford had given what some took to be such an inkling before, but the new comment apparently means that the issue—opposed by the industry which feels it would be paying people to loaf—is still on the table, possibly the main issue blocking agreement.

Blackout Black, No Doubt About It

DETROIT (AP) — When the auto workers and one of the Big Three auto makers impose a news blackout during contract negotiations— like the one in effect during the current talks at Ford—they mean blackout, brother, no ifs, ands or buts about it.

Newsmen discovered a crack in a door leading into the wing of the Ford headquarters where the negotiating rooms are.

Later they found that somebody had put a piece of masking tape along the crack.

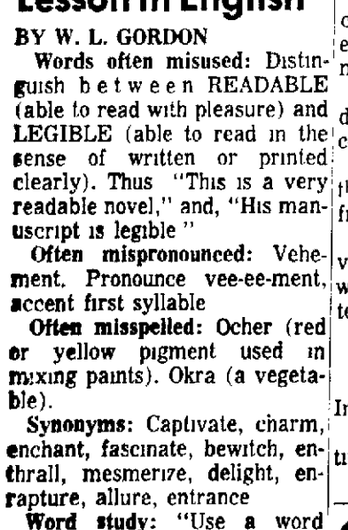
The Bouncing Sock Game Will Bring Hours of Fun

BY CAPPY DICK

The Bouncing Sock is the main part of a game which is lots of fun to play indoors or out It will be important, of course, to select a location where nothing is likely to be struck and damaged by the sock



Catch the Tail

The idea of the game is to play catch, the players tossing the ball so it bounces just once (Figure 2) before being caught

The ball must be thrown by its tail and caught by its tail

Demerits of five points are given for each of the following

Failure to throw the ball by its tail

Failure to catch the ball by the tail

Failure to catch the ball after one bounce

Play three inning. of five minutes each The player with the fewest demerits at the end of the third inning is the winner

Star System Stages Comeback in Movies

New Prosperity of Industry Brings Need For Name Actors to Keep Up Box Office

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The star system, much assailed and berated through film history, is staging a comeback.

There is no chance that a studio can advertise as did MGM in its heyday, that it has more stars than there are in the heavens. "Long gone is the era when film companies kept 50-100 stars under contract and could cast them in never-ending combinations. Not a single star is under exclusive contract to a studio today.

But the general movie business prosperity has increased production and the need for name players.

"I haven't seen it this good in years," says a top actors' agent. "The studios are more than willing to pay top money for stars who can deliver a performance. Most of my clients have more offers than they can handle."

Prices Go Up

Price for stars have risen correspondingly and million-dollar fees are no longer unusual for the likes of Julie Andrews, Elizabeth Taylor, Elvis Presley and Audrey Hepburn. Even Barbra Streisand in her first movie "Funny Girl" is drawing a million.

But there's a limit. It is expressed by Robert Evans, new production head for Paramount and himself a onetime actor.

"Stars can no longer guarantee box office for a picture. A movie loaded with stars can flop if it has a poor story.

"Today the story is the biggest star. A good story can be enhanced by star names. But good stories filmed by gifted directors can also be successful with unknown actors."

The latter factor has also contributed to revitalizing the star system. Producers can afford to take chances on new performers, and if the film is a hit, a star is born. Examples: Albert Finney in "Tom Jones;" Lynn Redgrave in "Georgy Girl;" Sandy Dennis in "Up the Down Staircase."

In the beginning there was no star system. Primitive film makers used whatever actors they could find—legitimate stage actors scorned employment in the "flickers"—and players got no billing.

Movie goers themselves created the stars, as they do today. Patrons of nickelodeons made favorites of performers with the most appeal. One of the earliest was a beauty known only as The Biograph Girl after the company for which she toiled.

Shrewd little Carl Laemmle, fighting the monopolists who controlled the new industry, hired The Biograph Girl away from her employers and publicized her by her own name, Florence Lawrence. The star rush was on.

Mary Pickford

By 1914, Adolph Zukor was paying the immensely popular Mary Pickford $2,000 a week. In 1916, Charlie Chaplin had won a $670,000 contract for a year's work; a year later, he was earning a million dollars.

The trend of high salaries for a few top performers continued through the 1920s. This was the time of the superstar, when the industry was dominated by a handful of personalities: Pickford, Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Lillian Gish, Gloria Swanson, Rudolph Valentino, Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, John Gilbert, Ramon Novarro.

Neenah Man Awarded York Cross, High Freemasonry Degree

William Barnard Dresser, 313 Geiger St., Neenah, has been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour. This honorary degree, highest in the York Rite of Freemasonry, is conferred only on those who have held the highest office in each of the four bodies in the rite.

Dresser becomes one of about 100 of the 4½ million Freemasons in North America and the Philippines to qualify this year.

He served as Master of Elisha Kent Kane Lodge of Masons in 1957, high priest of Neenah Chapter, Royal Arch Masons in 1959, Master of Oshkosh Council, Royal and Select Masters, in 1966, Commander of Twin Cities Commandery, Knight Templar, in 1951. He was elected to membership in Wisconsin Priory and his election confirmed by Convent General of the Order on Oct. 7.

Elections Held

FVL Clubs Align Leadership, Activities

Clubs of the Fox Valley Lutheran High School have announced the results of their elections for the 1967-68 school year and are making plans for future activities.

Service Club usherettes are headed by Nyra Jane Rieckmann; ticket sellers, Betty Bruskewitz and Mary Krahn; ushers, Gary Brandt, lockers, Mary Ann Scheibe; canteen and bookstore, Keith Rahmlow, and hall monitors, Gerhard Rolloff.

The Dramatics Club again has charge of the organization of skit night, a homecoming activity. The theme will be "Fairy Tales." Members also watched a demonstration on make-up by Mrs. La Perl of Oak Park, Ill.

Officers are Martin Moldenhauer, president; Sandie Ulrich, secretary, and Linda Greve, treasurer. The officers in charge of the recruitment committees selected to speak to the freshmen and sophomore homerooms, will explain the activities of staging, make-up, costuming and publicity connected with the Dramatics Club.

The Helping Hands Club held a clothing drive among FVL federation churches Oct. 13 and 14. The used clothing was sent to the Bethesda Lutheran Home, Watertown. Plans have been made to visit the city home in the near future.

'Playhouse' Opens With Mandel Show

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-10 Channels 2-7-12 — CBS Playhouse, a series of original TV dramas, debuts with Loring Mandel's "Do Not Go Gentle Into That Good Night," starring Melvyn Douglas and Shirley Booth. This is a remarkably well told story of old age. The intense tragedy often found in the living death of the near senile, is made vivid but not allowed to overcome the drama or the viewer. Mr. Douglas plays a man who has stopped living and waits for death with only his dreams for comfort. When his children send him to a nursing home he is slowly shocked back into sensibility and life. Warren Stevens, Lawrence Dobkin and Claudia McNeil are featured with Art Smith as Mr. Selig particularly moving. There are no commercial interruptions. (C)

6:30-7 Channels 4-5 — I Dream of Jeannie really rocks tonight when "Jeannie, the Hip Hippie" creates a rock 'n roll group to replace one that was supposed to play at a charity affair. (C)

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Daktari almost gets philosophical tonight but doesn't forget the animals either. Its a two-man and one animal show centering around a native who is disenchanted with the "new Africa" and wants to be left with the old ways. (C)

7-8 Channels 4-5 — Joey Heatherton shines and Laurence Harvey scowls on The Jerry Lewis Show. The latter plays a villain in a spoof. The Low Chaparral and also a handsome movie idol who makes life miserable for poor soul Jerry when the two share a hospital room. Joey sings "Hey, Look Me Over," which isn't difficult. (C)

7:30-8:30 Channels 11-6-9 — The Invaders has a chilling premise with "The Spores." It has to do with an alien experiment that goes awry. The outer space people think they have solved the problem of long-range transportation from their world to ours. (C)

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7-12 — British comedian Terry-Thomas meets Freddie the Faceloader on The Red Skelton Hour in a funny skit that puts the proper gentleman in a swank shop as a floor walker. Singer Nancy Wilson is also featured (she's a store detective in the above skit) singing "Up Tight" and "Music That Makes Me Dance." (C)

8-10 Channels 4-5 — "That Funny Feeling" on Tuesday Night at the Movies is little less than absolute and almost hysterical confusion. Sandra Dee plays an aspiring actress currently working as a cleaning woman. (C)

8:30-9 Channels 11-6-9 — Jack Warden as Lt. Haines, finally gets the featured spot on N.Y.P.D. in an episode on hijacking. Guest star Howard Da Silva plays an ex-con whose specialty was this form of robbery until Haines collared and helped convict him. Years later, after his release, a string of professional road heists takes place and Haines sees the touch of his old enemy. (C)

Audience Doesn't Like Show, but Its Star Does

NEW YORK (AP) — A one-act drama unfolded at the New York State Theater in Lincoln Center Monday night before an unappreciative audience of one.

Police said a bandit approached the box office about 8:40 p.m., poked a pistol at the cashier and demanded the receipts. He took $1,800 and fled.

The theater itself was closed at the time but the box office was open for advance sales.

Democrat Still Heads State Insurance Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Sen Martin Schreiber, D-Milwaukee will continue to lead the Legislative Council's study leading to a revision of the Wisconsin insurance laws, in spite of the desire of the Republican legislative majority leadership to replace him with a Republican

The joint Legislative Council has accepted the advice of Atty Gen Bronson C LaFollette that because the revision study is a continuing one that will probably span at least two legislative sessions, Schreiber should continue as its leader until it is completed

A month ago the council designated Sen Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, and chairman of the Senate's standing committee on insurance affairs, to replace Schreiber for the new legislative interim Schreiber asked LaFollette to interpret the governing laws

At its meeting Monday, County Chairman Jerris Leonard R-Milwaukee, said the attorney general's opinion was an unofficial one, but that it was undoubtedly correct Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi R-Minocqua, moved that the choice of Lorge be rescinded

Lorge will remain as a working member of the committee as an agent of the council.

"I'm a stock broker. Here's one thing every investor should remember about listed stocks."

"There is generally more information available about them—and that's a big plus"

Information of what kind?

"Information that might affect the market value of a stock or influence your investment decision. When a company originally applies for listing on the New York Stock Exchange, it's expected to publicize such information."

Is it mostly a matter of telling the public about the company's profit picture?

"That's an important part of it, but by no means the whole story. Every listed company agrees to put out an annual financial report These contain such facts and figures as sales, earnings and dividends, and often a summary of important developments and plans. Most of them also issue quarterly statements."

What if something big happens in the company?

"Under Exchange policy, they are expected to publicize these matters, and do it promptly. For example, new products, a proposed merger, management changes — such news could carry a lot of weight with the investor. The whole idea is to help the investor make a well-informed decision."

FREE INVESTMENT GUIDE ON LISTED STOCKS—SEND COUPON TODAY

Suppose the news is unfavorable?

"If it's important, good or bad, the investor is entitled to have it So it should be publicized"

Just where does a broker fit in as a source of information?

"When you walk into an office of a member firm of the Stock Exchange, the broker expects you to ask him for facts Maybe he has information that has escaped your notice. Or his firm may have done some additional research The smart investor will ask the broker's opinion of what the information means."

Does all this mean there is little risk when you buy listed stocks?

"On the contrary, every investment has risk, and not every listed stock is for you The important thing is to use judgment based on facts. Facts about yourself—how much you can invest after expenses and emergencies, whether your goal is growth, or dividends, or a more conservative approach with bonds. Then facts about companies that interest you. Before deciding, I think every investor should take into account the advantages listed stocks offer"

'No Underdog' in Vikings' Tilt at Ripon, Says Roberts

Vike Coach Lauds Offense and Defense for Play in Cornell Game; Figi's Status Doubtful

"There's no such thing as an underdog in this game," said Coach Ron Roberts of the Lawrence University Vikings, current leaders of the Midwest Conference.

Roberts was referring to the upcoming contest between traditional rivals, Lawrence and the Ripon Redmen at Ripon College Saturday.

Most prognosticators figured the Vikings and Ripon would both be unbeaten going into the contest, but the Monmouth Scots threw a wrench into the predictions by scoring a touchdown late in the game and handed Ripon a 14-7 setback last Saturday.

While the Redmen were taking one on the chin, the Vikes continued to roll by posting their fourth straight triumph, a 34-7 victory over previously unbeaten Cornell, in the Lawrence homecoming contest Saturday.

In looking back at the win over Cornell, Coach Roberts said he was well pleased with both the offensive and defensive efforts shown by the Lawrence team.

"We scored quickly and often, we took control of the game," offered the Lawrence mentor. "It would be difficult to single out anyone for special praise in a game of this type because, to a man, they did a good job."

Score Early

It was noted that Lawrence has scored 45 points in the opening period against opponents in the first four games. When asked what the reason might be for such a scoring burst early in the game Roberts said: "We have tremendous respect for our opponents and the team is drilled on not taking another lightly. Therefore we get a lot of extra effort out of the boys right from the start and it has paid off with early scoring."

Roberts also noted that getting the jump on opponents, such as in the Cornell game, enables him to use more players and get a chance to look at the potential of some underclassmen.

Roberts had words of praise for the defensive secondary of the Vikes. Four more enemy passes were picked off Saturday, giving Lawrence a total of 13 in the first four contests. John Biolo grabbed off two more against Cornell giving him a team-leading total of six interceptions.

The Lawrence defense was given a pat on the back by the head coach for their fine work in containing the explosive Cornell offense. The Rams had been averaging better than 30 points a game and were held to one touchdown.

On offense, Roberts had special praise for quarterback Chuck McKee and fullback Dick Witte.

"Witte played the best game of his career," said Roberts. "Dick was injured for a while and now is back running at top

Unorthodox Viking Maneuvers Baffled Packers' Defense

Osborn Run Toward Sideline Was Innovation for Game, Grant Says

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings admitted Monday what Green Bay tackle Henry Jordan said all along—the Vikings innovated in beating the Packers 10-7 last Sunday.

Coach Bud Grant of the Vikings said Minnesota used a new play and considerable patience to down the Packers and snap the National Football League kingpins' 17-game unbeaten string.

"Usually you don't run toward the sideline," said Grant, referring to the wide play by Dave Osborn that gained a vital 21 yards in the final period of the rain-swept game. "We thought they might not be expecting it."

Osborn did go wide and to the left where there was little running room. Furthermore, he followed only one guard on the play.

The Packers, caught by surprise, were beaten three plays later when Fred Cox kicked a 12-yard field goal.

Grant had said before the game that the way to upset Green Bay was to avoid being forced into the "non-percentage" play. "Green Bay wants you to gamble on the poor risk play. Then they capitalize on your mistakes. But they're human. They make mistakes too," he said.

Wrong Things Right

Jordan had called attention to the Vikings' unorthodox ways Sunday. "It was weird," he said. "They were doing things all at the wrong time, running on third down, running all the time. You wouldn't believe all hle crazy things they did . . . Of course, it was to their credit. That's a surprise. But it sure was crazy out there."

The departure from tradition had Viking quarterback Joe Kapp, a traditionalist, chafing at the bit. "Give the credit to Coach Grant," he said. "He has

Last weekend was a bad one for football dynastics — especially in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference.

When Menasha St. Mary beat Appleton Xavier, 14-7, it signaled the end of one of the most remarkable title streaks in state high school annals. Xavier had won six straight conference football titles and 12 consecutive FVCC major sport (football and basketball) titles—all under the coaching of Gene (Torchy) Clark, Cark.

While the date may be significant only to the superstitious, the fact remains that Xavier's try for a 13th straight crown tended, for all practical purposes, on Friday, the 13th. Slim mathematical hopes remained until last Saturday's St. John and Premontre games. But, the chances of the Chuters' losing to Marinette and the Cadets losing to Pennings were microscopic — and the results bore out the odds.

What about other dynasties? Well, Ripon College put its bid for a fifth straight Midwest Conference title in jeopardy when it was upset by Monmouth. The Redmen now trail unbeaten Lawrence University by one game, and their only hope for staying on the title track is to sidetrack the Vikes in Saturday's state collegiate headliner.

Neenah High School and the Green Bay Packers had weekend trouble in the Mid-Eastern Conference and National Football League, respectively, but they retained the top perches.

Neenah, shooting for a sixth straight M-E crown, was tied by Menasha and saw its lead cut to one game by Two Rivers. The Rockets (4-0-1) and the Raiders (3-1-1) each play the same pair of foes — first-division Shawano and second-division New London, in remaining games.

The Packers, bidding for a third straight NFL title, had a half-game of their 2-lap Central division margin chipped away after their stunning loss to Minnesota.

Notre Dame, last year's national poll champion, almost certainly saw its 1-year dynasty

Goose Kill at Horicon Light, Hunting Good

HORICON (AP) — State and federal conservation agents reported Monday that shooting for geese was light on the Horicon refuge during the weekend opening of the 1967 season.

"There is extremely light hunting pressure, resulting in fine quality hunting," said Robert Personius, refuge manager.

Most of the hunting has been from rented blinds on farms around the marsh.

An official count showed about 100,000 Canada geese in the area. Last year the birds reached a peak of 150,000 in the first week of November.

The tabulation on the opening kill will not be available until later in the week, officials said.

Steve Thurlow Out 4-6 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running back Steve Thurlow of the Washington Redskins broke his right forearm in Sunday's National Football League game with Atlanta, it was disclosed Monday.

Thurlow is expected to be out of action four to six weeks.

Austin Blasts Officials and Defensive Unit

Says Slow Whistle Cost Steelers Sunday's Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Bill Austin, who has seen his Pittsburgh Steelers fall to last place in the National Football League's Century Division with four straight losses, blasted the officials and his defensive unit Monday for the latest setback.

Austin said a slow whistle allowed Ernie Koy of New York to lateral the ball for a touchdown after he apparently had been stopped on a fourth down play in the fourth quarter Sunday.

"I think it was a terrible, terrible call," Austin said. "That play cost us the football game."

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton took Koy's lateral and raced seven yards for a touchdown that brought the Giants within four points. New York won the game 27-24 on Tarkenton's 59-yard pass to Joe Morrison with 1:50 to play.

In Grasp of 4

"Koy was in the grasp of four men and they shoved him back two yards," Austin added. "Unfortunately we didn't pin his arms but I didn't think you had to."

Game movies also confirmed Austin's contention that umpire Frank Sinkovitz brought his whistle to his mouth and raced up to the play, but never blew it dead.

Austin lodged a protest with Mark Duncan, the league's supervisor of officials, but admitted he didn't think it would do any good.

Austin said his defensive unit, which was second in the league in total defense, had him "stumped."

"I would still like to think that 24 points is enough to win a football game," Austin said.

He indicated there might be some shakeups in the secondary, but declined to name names.

AL Managerial Honor Goes to Dick Williams

Red Sox Pilot Selected by AP; Stanky Second

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Williams, a former journeyman ballplayer who took over the lowly Boston Red Sox from a one time great second baseman and directed them to the top of the American League, was an overwhelming choice today as the circuit's Manager-of-the-Year for 1967.

Dick Williams

Williams, a rookie field boss, was named by 324 of the 397 baseball writers and broadcasters who participated in the annual Associated Press poll.

Eddie Stanky of the Chicago White Sox was second with 35 votes followed by Bill Rigney of

Packers Not Consistent as Team: Vince

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Did it look better on film than "live," coach?

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that," Vince Lombardi chuckled today, then added with significant emphasis, "but there is no cause for panic. I can tell you that."

He was, of course, assessing that 10-7 misadventure with the Minnesota Vikings Sunday after a painstaking pictorial analysis of the world champions' first loss in 18 games.

Analyzing the offensive production, a major item in light of a 42-yard rushing total, Lombardi declared, "We're not making mistakes, it's just that we're not consistent as a team. We're breaking down at the wrong times."

It was not, then, a case of having been overpowered by the Vikings' front four? "No," he replied without hesitation, "we were not overpowered."

Could the loss of Jerry Kramer (he limped off the field on the Packers' second series and did not return) have been a factor? "I don't believe so," Lombardi said, pointing out, "we've lost people before and been able to win. Anytime you lose a first stringer, of course, it never helps."

Zeke Not Sharp

Evaluating the performance of Zeke Bratkowski, who had led the Packers to eight straight victories in relief of Bart Starr prior to Sunday's disappointment, the Packer headmaster observed, "Zeke wasn't very sharp — we had a lot of people open. He didn't have a real top-flight day."

The three interceptions? "He just threw 'em," Vince said. "Zeke told me he was trying to throw it away on two of them, but he didn't throw it away very emphatically."

The status of Starr, who has sat out the Packers' last two starts with injuries, is still uncertain at this point, Lombardi also reported.

I am not trying to be evasive," he said. "If I thought he could play Sunday (against the Giants in New York), I would say it right now, but there is no way I can answer that today."

Bruised Muscle

Noting that Starr has been troubled by a bruised muscle that affects the throwing arm, he appended, "It's like trying to use a back who can't run . . . If he had something wrong like that with his left arm, I'd play him, but in this situation I can't very well do it. We'll just have to wait until later in the week to see how he is."

"I haven't seen Donny Anderson (who suffered a pulled muscle in the fourth quarter but subsequently returned to action) or Jerry Kramer yet, so I don't know at this point how they are. That also will have to wait until later in the week."

There were, in retrospect, several critical plays in Sunday's unhappiness, Vince conceded, but, he said, "The big thing was the clipping penalty."

A highly questionable call, it was assessed to Elijah Pitts, who appeared to cut down his man cleanly, on a 39-yard pass to Boyd Dowler that would have carried the Pack to the Viking 43 early in the third quarter.

Grammas Only Coach Retained By Bucs' Shepard

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Larry Shepard, newly appointed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, announced Monday he is retaining third base coach Alex Grammas, but is letting the other three coaches go.

Dropped were first base coach John Pesky, pitching coach Clyde King and bullpen coach Hal Smith.

The Pirates also announced they have signed a working agreement with the York, Pa., team of the Class AA Eastern League.

Party Permit Deadline Set For Saturday

MADISON — With the filing deadline rapidly approaching, applications for 1967 Wisconsin deer hunting "party permits" are coming in to the Division of Conservation license section here at a good clip.

As of last weekend some 7,000 applications had been counted. A total of at least 24,000 are expected before the deadline, which is midnight Saturday. Applications postmarked after that time will not be eligible for drawing.

Party permits allow groups of four licensed hunters to take one deer, of either sex, in many of the "deer management units" established over most of Wisconsin's northern and central deer range. Each unit has been assigned a quota of party permits to be issued, in accordance with its deer population and the carrying capacity of its range.

Permits for those areas where the number applied for exceeds the quota will be issued following a machine drawing. The drawing will be carried out on Oct. 26, at 9 a.m. in the offices of the Department of Administration, Hill Farms State Office Building, Madison. Anyone interested may attend and observe the drawing.

more patience than I have."

Kapp passed just 11 times despite numerous third down and long yardage situations.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers blamed inconsistency for the setback.

"We didn't have a complete breakdown," he said of the Packer effort, which netted only 42 yards rushing. "Nor was only one player guilty all the time. But too often it was someone who was not doing the job."

Lombardi said he could not yet name his starting quarterback for next Sunday's meeting in New York with the Giants. The coach said he wanted to return to Bart Starr as the Packers' quarterback but not while he is still injured.

"All I can say is we'll have to wait and see how he responds in practice," Lombardi said.

Zeke Bratkowski had three passes intercepted by the Vikings, including the two that led to the Vikings' 10 points in the final period.

Lombardi was confident that Donny Anderson escaped unscathed from the Vikings' game. Anderson appeared to have absorbed an injury in the area of the right knee.

Guard Jerry Kramer twisted an ankle. "I believe Jerry's okay," Lombardi said.

speed." Roberts also credited sophomore Tom Merza and junior Joe Patterson with some "outstanding blocking" in the line.

Halfback Steve Figi was injured in Saturday's game and his status for the Ripon contest will be in doubt until later in the week. If Figi is unable to play, sophomore Paul Rechner, who "did a tremendous job" against Cornell will start. Rechner is averaging nearly four yards per carry while seeing limited duty.

Dennis DeCock, who missed the Cornell game due to an injury is expected to be ready for this Saturday's game.

"There's no two ways about this game," said Roberts. "If we're thinking about winning the championship we have to go out and beat Ripon."

Trophies and Awards were presented to members of the Fox Valley Stock Car Club at a season-ending dinner-dance Saturday at the Darboy Club. Rams' Allen Irked:

Penalty for Grabbing of Face Mask Too Stiff

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles professional football Rams urged Monday a clearer interpretation of the face mask grabbing rule and possible reduction of the penalty from 15 to 5 yards.

Allen was asked for comment on the rule at the weekly football writers luncheon in view of the three mask-grabbing penalties called on the Rams in their come-from-behind 24-24 tie with the Baltimore Colts Sunday in Baltimore.

The penalties came in the fading minutes and kept a Baltimore drive going for what appeared to be the winning points.

"It's a good rule if a player does grab an opponent's face mask," said Allen, who was not criticizing the officiating. "We coach our defense to rise high in the air in rushing the passer and come down to make him throw from the 'well.'

"In doing this we may brush the mask but not actually grab it."

Jones Caught

Defensive end David Jones was called on one play against the Colts' quarterback, Johnny Unitas.

"David swears he did not grab Unitas' mask," Allen said, adding he had not had an opportunity yet to study game films.

He said the 45 yards dealt out in penalties was very costly. "Fifteen yards is a lot of yards. I think five would be fairer in cases such as this brushing on a play where three or four are tangled around the passer. Where grabbing occurs out in the open and there's no doubt about a call, the rule is good," Allen said.

Coach John McKay, whose Southern California Trojans upended Notre Dame Saturday, 24-7, praised the Irish defense but said the team lacked a good running game.

He also complimented Notre Dame players for trying to control the noise created by their fans at South Bend.

Rough Huskies

The Washington Huskies, McKay continued, present rough opposition at Seattle Saturday.

"They'll be crusading against us Saturday. That'll make two crusading teams in Seattle," McKay quipped.

UCLA Coach Tommy Prothro, happy to defeat California, said he thought his quarterback, Gary Beban, had his best game of the season.

Stanford, UCLA's next opponent, at Palo Alto, has a fine team, Prothro continued, noting the Indians have not been beaten at home this year.

Beban, a luncheon guest, said playing in his home country in the San Francisco bay area will be an incentive. "But playing a conference game in the Rose Bowl race should provide enough incentive," said Beban.

Duck Call Effective When Used Properly; Misuse Can Ruin Hunt

By BEN LEWIS
Wausau Record-Herald

WAUSAU (AP)—The tootling by would-be musicians and the firing by would-be antiaircraft gunners have ruined dispositions of many duck hunters.

A duck call, in the right hands at the right moments, is a fine effective instrument. To high flying birds, it calls attention to a spread of decoys, and may turn them for a second, closer look. To ducks trying to choose between two spreads, a call can be that slight touch of authenticity that determines the course.

But a duck call in the wrong hands is murder.

To some guys a duck call is like eating popcorn—once they start, they can't quit.

They see a black speck in the distance and start honking the horn with great gusto. No matter which direction the duck goes—upwind or downwind—the caller continues the symphony until it disappears. Then he cusses the call.

Once in a while, however, a very stupid duck turns toward the caller, or an innocent lonesome mallard quacks an answer.

This is all the encouragement the tootler needs, and any hunter within a half-mile of him will be entertained endlessly.

Hunters who must use duck calls should learn how. There are some pretty good records on the market that present the various calls accurately and give good advice to go along with the quacking.

When to Quack

When the hunter learns when to quack and how to quack and what tune to quack, he will become an asset not only to himself but to everyone within range.

In the meantime, a piece of advice: moderation with a duck call will win friends; silence will win even more.

The skybuster is another dandy of the marshes.

Whenever a duck passes by—and it makes no difference whether it's out of range or circling to decoy to someone else—the skybuster feels compelled to give it a try. He misses, the duck climbs even higher and no one else gets a chance.

Doesn't Always Miss

Unfortunately, the skybuster doesn't always miss. On occasion a stray shot nips a wing and the duck falls from the heights. And forever after the hunter tries to duplicate the feat. This results in many ducks carrying lead wounds that may later cause their death.

A good hunter doesn't shoot ducks at scratching ranges. Most don't even utilize the full killing range of their guns. They know the distances and heights at which they shoot well and kill quickly. And that is what determines their ranges.

In duck hunting, the success or failure of the day can depend upon the people in nearby blinds. If they cooperate, shooting only within good range and using a duck call only if they know how, everyone will get his share of ducks. But if they're tootlers, or skybusters, the day, not the duck, is shot.

Chuters and Zephyrs Lead Fox Cities '11s' terminated by its second loss of the season — 24-7 to Southern Cal.

Even if Xavier's Hawks (3-2) win their two remaining league games, they cannot catch all three of the teams ahead of them in the race — Little Chute St. John (5-0), Green Bay Premontre (5-0) and Menasha St. Mary (4-1).

The Hawks, however, won't leave the spotlight because its Saturday game at Premontre will have a direct bearing on the outcome of the FVCC's 3-way title struggle. The contest will be televised live by Channel 11.

St. John and St. Mary, the other two title aspirants, will clash head-on in Menasha in one of the premier Fox Cities games of the season.

Share Distinction

The Zephyrs and the Chuters continue to share the distinction of owning the best records among the 10 Fox Cities teams. Both boast 6-1 marks.

Only three other Fox Cities teams now have .500-or-better records. They are Neenah (4-1-1), Kimberly (4-2) and Xavier (4-2-1). Kaukauna, Appleton East, Menasha, Fox Valley Lutheran and Appleton West are all below .500.

St. Mary continues to show the way offensively, with an average of 26.6 points per game. Xavier is second, with 22.

Neenah, which has given up an average of only 3.2 points per game, continues as defensive leader. St. Mary is second, with a 6.7 rate.

This marks only the second time in its history that Xavier has lost back-to-back football games. The other occasion was in 1964, when the Hawks lost three in a row.

Three years ago, Xavier used the Premontre game "to get well," starting a new winning streak.

The Hawks, Saturday, face the same opposition — the Cadets — in their effort to regain the victory circle. The task will be thorny for at least two reasons: Premontre is smoldering from six years of frustration (the Cadets have never beaten Xavier in football), and Hawk standout Brad Graff will be unavailable.

Graff, who had scored two touchdowns a game and had averaged almost nine yards per carry before suffering an injury in the Marinette contest, will undergo knee surgery Friday. The junior flash, who sustained torn ligaments, will miss the final two football games and at least six weeks of the basketball season.

In the St. John game, Graff showed his old speed in running back a kickoff for a touchdown — straight up the middle. But he had trouble "cutting" and was held to his lowest yardage total from scrimmage. Against St. Mary game, Graff aggravated the injury in his first carry and sat out the rest of the game.

California, 15. Mayo Smith of Detroit drew nine votes and Minnesota's Cal Ermer had eight.

Williams replaced Billy Herman, former Chicago Cubs' standout infielder, as the Boston skipper after the club had finished ninth for the second straight season.

From Toronto

The 38-year-old St. Louis native was brought up from Toronto of the International League where he accumulated his only two years of managerial experience. He guided Boston to a pennant victory with two consecutive triumphs over Minnesota on the regular season's final weekend.

While slugging outfielder Carl Yastrzemski and ace pitcher Jim Lonborg led the way, Williams also utilized to the club's advantage the talents of a number of player he helped develop at Toronto. They included outfielder Reggie Smith, second baseman Mike Andrews, first baseman George Scott, third baseman Joe Foy and catchers Russ Gibson and Mike Ryan.

The Red Sox were in fifth place in mid-July. They rallied, however, winning 31 of 48 games and took over the lead on Aug. 26. During most of the final month of the campaign, they engaged in a sizzling race for first place with the White Sox, Twins and Tigers.

Under Williams, who played every position except catcher and pitcher for six big league teams starting in 1951, the Red Sox finished with a 92-70 record. This was 20 games better than in 1966 when they wound up only one-half game in front of the last-place New York Yankees.

Nix Settling Into Starting Job

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Kent Nix was thrown into the Pittsburgh Steelers' quarterback job three weeks ago, a nervous and scared rookie.

"I just wasn't sure of myself," he said. "I was real nervous — but I guess that's to be expected. I wasn't sure I could do the job. I didn't have confidence in myself."

Now Nix says the pressure has lessened and his confidence soars with each game. Although the Steelers have lost all three, he's conceded a good chance to keep his job even when Bill Nelsen comes off the injuried reserve list.

"Every game I feel less pressure and more confidence in knowing what I can do," Nix says. "I feel I've done an adequate job but I'm still not wholly satisfied. I've got a lot to learn."

Nix, the only first-year quarterback playing regularly in the National Football League, was an instant hit with the Pittsburgh fans by doing well some of the things that gave Nelsen trouble.

They like the way he avoids being thrown for losses, scrambling when in trouble, throwing under pressure, or out of bounds if necessary. And each week he gets better.

Nelsen was dumped nine times in two games and it looked like the Steelers again would lead the league in quarterback losses. But since Nelsen has been out, Nix has been thrown for losses only five times. He has also completed 52 of 93 passes — 55.9 per cent — for 652 yards.

Chisox Release O'Toole, Select May, Magnuson

CHICAGO (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Jim O'Toole was released outright today by the Chicago White Sox to Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League.

O'Toole was 4-3 for the Sox this season before being placed on the injury list July 24 with torn ligaments in his left shoulder.

The Sox also sold infielder Marv Staehle to Portland of the PCL.

The Sox selected these players under terms of a working agreement with Indianapolis: Pitchers Dan Lazar and Jim Magnuson; infielder Bert Heichenbach and outfielder Carlos May. They also picked infielder Dick Littleton from Evansville, Ind.

Badgers' Burt Co-Captain for Iowa Contest

Reddick Gets 'Bucky' Award for Offensive Play Against Pitt

MADISON (AP) — Chuck Burt, a nationally ranked quarterback for Wisconsin as a sophomore two seasons ago but a bench warmer ever since, will be the Badgers' co-captain Saturday when they seek to snap a four-game losing streak against Iowa.

The Badgers would equal their worst start in history should they lose to the Hawkeyes. Not since 1935 has Wisconsin lost its first five games.

Coach John Coatta gave no indication that he would go with Burt at the helm of a punchless attack led so far by John Ryan and John Boyajian.

But Pittsburgh used a reserve quarterback in the second half of last Saturday's game with Wisconsin and he led the Panthers to a 13-11 victory.

Lacks Speed

Burt, considered a fine passer hampered by lack of speed, was also plagued by interceptions during the 1965 season. He failed to letter last season and has not been at quarterback for a single play this season.

Co-captain with Burt will be Gary Reineck, a defensive back.

Sophomore Mel Reddick became the first winner of the "Bucky Award" for his offensive play against Pitt. Reddick caught six passes for 105 yards.

Coatta said the Badgers suffered only one casualty against Pittsburgh. Lineman Don Bliss injured his back.

Finley Seeks Approval From AL Owners

Wednesday Parley To Determine Fate Of A's Franchise

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, will go before a meeting of American League owners Wednesday seeking permission to move the franchise to Oakland, Calif.

"I'm hopeful but that's all," Finley told The Associated Press. "The only thing I'm sure of is one vote and that's my own. I still need six more."

Finley, who last month notified Kansas City officials that he did not intend to exercise his option on Municipal Stadium, also had toyed with the idea of moving to Seattle.

However, last week Finley announced Oakland was his choice, adding that Seattle "does not presently have the facilities for major league sports but the Pacific Northwest is a great area and will be wonderful for baseball in the future."

As for Wednesday's meeting on Finley's request to move, one source said "although the A's drew well in Kansas City, there's no question they will do better in a new area with a new stadium. I'm sure Charlie will have all the facts and that surveys have been made.

Junior Terrors Tie South, Play North Saturday

The Appleton West junior varsity football team, which tied Sheboygan South, 13-13, last weekend, meets Sheboygan North at Witte Field at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Down, 13-6, with four minutes left, the Junior Terrors got into scoring position on a long punt return by Jim Ruwoldt, then drove 30 yards to tie the score. George Brussard ran the last five yards after taking a pitchout from Jeff Day. Ruwoldt ran the extra point.

Ruwoldt scored the first West touchdown, as he took a short pass from Pat Wickesburg and ran the rest of the way to complete a 45-yard play. West now has a record of 0-3-1.

Trojans Hold Solid Lead in AP's Grid Poll

Purdue Still Rated Second; Irish Drop From Top 10

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The luck of the Irish faded completely today when Notre Dame dropped from the list of ranking college football teams while Southern California held a solid lead in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Tennessee and Wyoming made their first appearances in the Top Ten.

Notre Dame, favored to repeat as national champions, tumbled all the way out as a result of its 24-7 setback by Southern California Saturday. The Irish were fifth a week ago.

The Trojans, unbeaten in five games, collected 36 first-place votes and 432 points in the balloting by a national panel of 44 sports writers and broadcasters.

Purdue held second place with seven votes for the top position and 389 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second etc. The Boilermakers overwhelmed Ohio State 41-6 for their fourth triumph against no losses.

UCLA, a 37-14 victor over California for its fifth victory, advanced one place to third. The Bruins accumulated 325 points in the poll.

Colorado is fourth followed by North Carolina State, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Houston and Wyoming in that order.

Climbs 2 Places

Colorado climbed two places after trouncing Missouri 23-9. North Carolina State zoomed four positions on the strength of its 31-9 triumph over Maryland while Alabama moved up one place to sixth. The Crimson Tide defeated Vanderbilt 35-21 for a 3-0-1 mark.

Tennessee, beaten by UCLA in its opener, zoomed into the No. 7 spot after defeating Georgia Tech 24-13. Georgia, upset by Mississippi 29-20, slipped from third to eighth.

The Houston Cougars, idle last weekend, advanced to ninth place, a gain of one notch. Wyoming, 5-0 after its 28-0 thumping of Utah, completes the list of ranked teams.

Nebraska, No. 8 a week ago, also slipped from the rankings after its 10-0 setback by Kansas.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Southern California (36)	5-0	432

Chaparrals of ABA Tip Anaheim By 129-125 Score

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Old pro Cliff Hagan and a group of young former collegians inaugurated professional basketball in Dallas and Texas, more noted as the football state of the country.

Hagan, who has spent more than 20 of his 35 years on various basketball courts, came out of retirement Monday night. He led the Dallas Chaparrals to a 129-125 victory over the Anaheim Amigos in an American Basketball Association game before a crowd of 3,200.

Hagan retired in 1966 as an active player with the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association after scoring more than 13,000 points in 10 seasons.

Playing Coach

When Dallas became a charter member of the new ABA this year, Hagan was hired as playing coach. The knowledge gained in a decade of playing in the older league easily showed on the floor Monday night.

His 35 points, one more than All-America Bob Verga of Duke and the Chaparrals, was high for both teams as was his 12 rebounds and eight assists.

The loss was the second for Anaheim, which was led by Steve Chubin's 24 points.

No other games were played in the ABA or NBA.

Frazier Takes On Doyle in 10-Round Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Frazier, the No. 1 or No. 9 challenger for the heavyweight title, depending on whose ratings you rate, places his unbeaten record on the line tonight in a scheduled 10-round fight against upset-minded Tony Doyle.

Frazier seeks his 18th victory in the first fight presented at the new $12 million Spectrum, which opened several weeks ago to a jazz concert. A lot of "jazz" is what Frazier says Doyle has been spouting when the Utah heavyweight claims he'll spring the biggest upset of the year in boxing.

Ranked No. 1 by Ring Magazine and ninth by the World Boxing Association, Frazier is in one of those everything to lose, nothing to gain situations in taking on Doyle. He's fighting for a $15,000 guarantee, and if he wins the experts will say he knocked over another stiff. If he loses, no picture is necessary.

School Population Sought in Survey

Information to determine how many persons under age 35 are enrolled either in school or college is being sought here this week.

Questions are asked each year at this time to update national figures on public, private and special school enrollment, full and parttime college attendance, the number of high school graduates and dropouts, and the last year of regular schooling for non-high school graduates.

A survey taken last year showed more than 55 million were enrolled in school or college, about 30 per cent of the civilian population.

This inquiry is in addition to questions on employment that the census bureau asks each month to obtain data for use by the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics in determining national employment and unemployment figures.

Waivers Asked On Burgess

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox asked waivers Monday on pinch-hitter Smoky Burgess for the purpose of his unconditional release.

Burgess, 40, is the major league's top pinch hitter with 144 hits. But he got only eight in 60 times at bat this season.

The Sox also bought first baseman George Kernek from Tulsa of the Pacific Coast League and, in turn, sold outfielder Jim Hicks to Tulsa. Kernek, 27, batted .277, hit 14 home runs and drove in 66 runs this year. Hicks batted .288 for Indianapolis.

The director is one of the leading forms distributors in the Association and served as co-chairman of the education, research and development committee during 1966-67.

Objectors' Role Played by Pair in Lower House

Reps. Gross, Hall Slow 'Fast Moves' Of Democrats

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the House of Representatives uses extraordinary procedures to try to speed up its work, Reps. H. R. Gross and Durward G. "Doc" Hall are all ears.

One of those two Republicans is always there—and usually both—to make sure the Democratic majority doesn't pull any fast ones.

"We're just two fellows who are vitally interested in rules and procedures and in protection of the rights of the minority," said Hall, 57, a self-styled "hillbilly doctor" who has been in Congress since 1961.

"I just want to know what's going on," said Gross, a 68-year-old former news reporter and radio commentator who has been there nearly 20 years.

Usually in Minority

Gross admits he has been at this "quite a spell." One reason is that his party has controlled the House for only two years since he has been a member.

In former years, Gross' partner was former Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan.

Shortly after Hoffman left the House, Hall organized a mass effort by Republicans and Southern Democrats in September 1965 to put every possible parliamentary roadblock in the way of the Democratic leadership, which was trying to use speed-up procedures to bring bills more easily to the House floor for action.

By the time the House finally adjourned at 12:31 a.m. the following morning, there had been a record 23 quorum calls or roll-call votes, each lasting about 25 minutes.

Only Survivor

Both are Midwestern conservatives with usually dour expressions. Hall is from Springfield, Mo., Gross from Waterloo, Iowa. Gross was the only survivor in 1964 when Democrats decimated Iowa's GOP House delegation.

The two make their points by objecting when unanimous consent is required for House action, by demanding attendance roll calls when many members are absent and others are in a hurry and by raising intricate parliamentary objections.

"We put each other on notice when one has to be away so that there will be coverage," Hall said.

But it's a rare day when either is absent at noon when the House meets, and usually one or the other demands the first quorum call to prod the necessary majority of members to be present for the day's business.

'Unofficial Objector'

"I think that brought me to Gross' attention," Hall said, adding that the two have been brought more closely together by his designation as one of the Republicans assigned to study for possible objections those bills scheduled for passage by unanimous consent.

Gross considers himself "an unofficial objector," a task which he says requires "the ability to get up and ask questions and object if you get the wrong answers or inadequate answers."

"It's not pleasant to get up and object to another member's bill," Gross added. "It's time consuming, and it isn't pleasant." But he said "a good many members don't pay much attention" to these bills and someone should.

Their triumphs are usually more fleeting than permanent. But often they lead to full debate on a bill and a chance to amend it, which Hall says is really what they are trying to make possible.

Burglars Know How To Enjoy Burglary

HARTSVILLE, S.C. (AP) — The cafeteria of Butler High School was broken into Sunday night and intruders took frozen fish from the freezer, cooked it and ate it. Then, Sheriff John Hatchell says, they had ice cream for dessert.

$2.85 Billion Cut Sought in Budget

Move by House Committee Likely to Meet Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriation Committee's move toward a $2.85 billion budget cut apparently has satisfied neither Republican critics of the Johnson administration nor Democrats who say the price of a tax increase is a deep spending slash.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., whose Ways and Means Committee shelved President Johnson's tax boost proposal two weeks ago, declined direct comment on the Appropriation Committee action. But he said he has no plans to reconvene the Ways and Means Committee to consider tax legislation.

Mills has said the House would not pass a tax increase bill without spending cuts between $5 billion and $10 billion—and perhaps not even then.

Seeks Big Cut

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, said in an interview he'll still try on the House floor to win adoption of a $5 billion spending cut.

The Appropriations Committee rewrote an emergency financing bill Monday to direct a $2.85 billion cut in federal spending—about $1.4 billion of it in the current fiscal year.

Bow lost on a party-line vote when he tried in committee for a $5 billion cut all in the current year. But he said "I think we might win on a close vote" when he renews his fight Wednesday during House consideration of the bill.

Original purpose of the bill was to grant once more interim spending authority to government agencies whose appropriations for the budget year that began July 1 still haven't been approved by Congress.

Bow said the committee budget cut "is a step in the right direction but it still doesn't do enough."

Payroll Cut

The committee bill would require a 5 per cent payroll cut for federal executive agencies, require them to absorb without extra funds the $625 million pay increase now pending, and cut research spending 10 per cent. Exceptions are made for Vietnam and other urgent spending.

Bow and other Republicans want a much deeper slash in actual expenditures to reduce the prospective budget deficit.

Some Republicans say also they may attempt to extend the reduction in government payroll funds to the employes of Congress and the judiciary

The Appropriations Committee said the restriction would eliminate about 110,000 government jobs, but there would be few if any firings since turnover is heavy and positions could be left unfilled.

Heidi Might be Brewing at Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —A tropical depression, which could grow into the season's eighth tropical storm, was centered midway between Miami and Bermuda today.

The depression was expected to drift toward the west-northwest for the next 24 hours.

If it grows into a tropical storm or hurricane it will be called Heidi.

Hundreds Burn Cards, They Say

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scores of persons have been arrested in antiwar and antidraft demonstrations staged by thousands in cities from coast to coast. Hundreds burned what they said were their draft cards.

Spokesmen at a demonstration in New York said their action was part of a nationwide mobilization of those resisting the draft. Protests took place in 30 cities across the country.

Some 5,000 antidraft demonstrators jammed onto the University of California's Berkeley campus Monday night in defiance of a court injunction barring any campus antiwar teach-in.

No action was taken against the protestors. A university spokesman said, "It is not in the least interest of public safety to move in with a wedge of police."

Singer Arrested

The protest came after police broke up a disorderly blockade of the Oakland Army Induction Center Monday with 121 arrests, including that of folksinger Joan Baez.

At Boston's Arlington Street church the strains of "We Shall Overcome" sounded as 67 youths, mostly college students, burned their cards at the altar Monday.

Afterward, 220 more youths surrendered their draft cards to clergymen. The total number of demonstrators was swelled to 3,500 by students who arrived from colleges and universities throughout New England.

"In the name of student deferment," read a Boston newspaper ad signed by 200 faculty members of different schools, "the son of the middle-class white American is all too often spared the fate reserved for the poor and black."

Four demonstrators were arrested in Chicago after some 210 persons tried unsuccessfully to push their way into the federal building to surrender their draft cards at the U.S. marshal's office.

Campus Demonstration

There were 10 arrests at the Selective Service Center in Champaign, Ill., following a rain-drenched demonstration on the University of Illinois campus. Two of the youths claimed to have burned their draft cards.

In Portland, Ore., three youths were seized for disorderly conduct in an antidraft demonstration after they refused to

No Control In Sight at Santa Paul

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A major brush fire raged on two fronts today — one heading toward the rugged timberlands of Los Padres National Forest and the other toward a town of 20,000 persons. Authorities said the town, Santa Paul in southwest San Fernando Valley, was not in immediate danger. The fire was about a quarter mile from outlying homes which were buffered by damp vegetation of Santa Paul Creek.

Some 600 firefighters struggled on both fronts of the fire through the night as the toll of charred land grew to 3,000 acres, said William Waltrip of the U.S. Forest Service.

Firefighters declared victory Monday over a two-day brush fire which blackened 25,000 acres in another part of Ventura County and threatened the town of Thousand Oaks.

60 Homes Lost

The Los Angeles County Fire Department estimated that fire destroyed 43 homes in Los Angeles County and 17 in Ventura County.

No control was in sight for the Santa Paul fire, Woltrip said.

"It's not looking too good at all. We had a kickup in the wind overnight and the fire's backing down to Santa Paul Creek," he said.

The flames raced through an oil tank field in the early morning, but combustible material around the tanks had been cleared away so none was damaged, he said.

On the other front, firefighters strained to keep the flames from timber stands. From 500 to 600 acres of brush in the national forest were consumed, Waltrip said.

If the fire gets into timber it will be inaccessible to ground firefighting efforts because there are no roads or firebreaks, he added.

Arson Suspected

Meanwhile, three teen-agers were held for investigation of arson in a series of fires which burned 1,000 acres by this morning about 25 miles to the southwest

Ventura County Sheriff's deputies said the two girls and a boy are charged with setting a four-acre fire near Simi Valley High School.

The fire near Thousand Oaks, a 10-mile-long blend of two separate outbreaks that began Sunday in Los Angeles County and Ventura County, resulted in the evacuation of 50 homes. More than 1,000 pupils were evacuated from two elementary schools on the north side of Thousand Oaks. The fire came within two miles of the town, but was stopped by a fire line cut by a dozen bulldozers.

The flames in the two-county fire were estimated to have caused hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage to lemon, orange and lima bean crops.

The fire that threatened Thousand Oaks was part of one that destroyed more than 10 homes in the Chatsworth area, 10 miles away.

9-Year-Old Girl Loses Fight for Life

Julie Ann Mahnke Of Milwaukee in Head-on Collision

Nine-year-old Julie Ann Mahnke, of Milwaukee, lost her battle with life this morning and became Outagamie County's third traffic fatality in two days

She was injured in a head-on automobile crash late Sunday afternoon. When she was brought to Appleton Memorial Hospital she had stopped breathing but a doctor revived her with external heart massage.

She died at 2:15 a.m from severe head injuries, Outagamie County Deputy Coroner C. J. Schink said.

Her mother, Mrs Raymond Mahnke, is in good condition at Appleton Memorial, while Patrick Pierce, 16, Shawano, driver of the other car involved, is in fair condition.

The accident occurred at 5 55 p.m. Sunday on County Trunk A, 1½ miles south of Center Valley Road. The cars driven by Mrs. Mahnke and Pierce collided head on.

Her death was the 20th of the year in Outagamie County. Last year there were 16 traffic deaths in the county at this time.

Gales Lash Welsh Village

LONDON (AP) — Rain and gales lashed Britain throughout the night and early today it appeared the worst-hit spot was the Welsh village of Aberfan, nearing the first anniversary of a coal sludge disaster that killed 144 persons.

More than 350 men, women and children were evacuated from their homes when the Taff River burst its banks and swept into two Aberfan streets. But a mine engineer said there was no danger that the rain would weaken the huge piles of mine wastes overlooking the village and start another disastrous slide.

Emergency services were rushed into Aberfan, and coaches carried the evacuees to schools on high ground to spend the rest of the night. Between 50 and 60 houses, some flooded to a depth of six feet, were emptied

Gag Turns Into Mayor Candidacy

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — As a joke, friends of Jack Williamson, a University of Georgia senior, put up hundreds of "Williamson for mayor" signs around town without his knowledge.

But the 22-year-old student decided to take them seriously.

Williamson announced his intention at a Monday news conference to oppose two-term Mayor Julius Bishop as a write-in candidate in the city's primary election. He said he hoped to get the support of the Republican Party in Athens.

No Longer a Simple Matter

Soviets' War Stand Puzzling

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

A News Analysis

The position seems no longer simply a matter of demanding a halt to U S air raids on North Vietnam, withdrawal of American forces from the South and recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front—the NLF—as the only legitimate representative of the southern people.

Choice of Words

Possibly nothing much has changed. But the whole history of Communist leaders' careful choice of words to reflect unstated policies argues against this.

One possibility is that the Soviet Union is working behind scenes to try to soften positions of the participants in the war, especially those of Washington and Hanoi, so that peace talks might be arranged.

Perhaps the most intriguing possibility is that the Soviet Union is seeking to split the Vietnam problem into two parts—stopping U.S. air raids on the North and negotiations with the NLF—to prevent Hanoi from blocking a settlement.

Some diplomats put this interpretation on the most recent statement by a Soviet leader on ending the war. Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said two weeks ago that the way to solve the Vietnam problem was to end the bombing of North Vietnam and recognize the NLF's program.

Kosygin and other Soviet leaders before and since did not restate the whole package of North Vietnamese demands or even refer directly to Hanoi's four points that summarize them. Previously they were usually mentioned in top-level Soviet speeches.

The Soviet Union has also not reacted quite so sharply to recent U.S. raids around Haiphong as it did to earlier extensions of raiding targets.

The NLF program adopted in August calls for "an independent, democratic, peaceful, neutral and prosperous South Vietnam" with eventual "reunification of Vietnam . . . step by step and through peaceful negotiation" between the North and South.

Splitting the Vietnam problem could open the possibility of peace talks in the South while the North simply dropped out of the war once it was no longer bombed. Diplomats here speculate that Kremlin leaders may have this in mind.

This could reduce the influence on events of Red China, an advocate of fighting on as long as necessary. The Soviet Union is assumed by diplomats here to want the war ended.

UW Students Protest Campus Job Recruiter

MADISON (AP)—A crowd of 75 to 100 University of Wisconsin students launched an antiwar demonstration today against campus job recruiting by a firm making supplies for the Vietnam conflict

There were no incidents or apparent conflict with regulations as the marchers, watched by 300 other students moving between classes, walked in a circle outside the Commerce Building. Job recruiters had permission to use the building.

Hopes Bolstered for Solution in Mideast

Russian Deputy Kuznetsov Arrives for Talks at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The arrival at the U.N. General Assembly of Vasily V. Kuznetsov, a Soviet deputy foreign minister and key negotiator, raised hopes today that the Russians may be ready to join in seeking peace in the Middle East

One high-level Communist delegate said that Kuznetsov's arrival Monday was "a good sign" for possible solution of the Arab-Israeli stalemate. Kuznetsov was sent to New York in 1962 to negotiate with the United States over the Cuban missile crisis.

New Minister

Jordan, one of the chief Arab participants in discussions on the Middle East, has sent its new foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, to New York to take part in the talks.

The United States is keeping a tight lid, however, on its role in the talks on the Middle East.

U.S. sources confirmed that Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, but they said nothing would be made public on the substance of the talks An Egyptian source said they met Monday for 90 minutes.

Riad had met at least once before with Goldberg and conferred for 90 minutes with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the opening days of the General Assembly.

Eban to Return

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban left New York Sunday for Jerusalem, but he was expected to return in a week or 10 days.

Attempts have been going on for more than three weeks to work out a meaningful resolution on the Middle East deadlock for the Security Council.

One proposal reported to have considerable support is for the council to list general principles for a settlement and authorize Secretary-General U Thant to name a special representative to work out details between the opposing sides.

The United States has been seeking Moscow's support for renewal of a combined attempt to win the endorsement of the Arab world for a resolution that would combine the two main sticking points:

— Israeli withdrawal from territories of Egypt, Jordan and Syria seized during the June war

— Arab recognition of Israeli's right to exist as a nation and an end to the 20-year Arab state of war against Israel.

New Ground Operation Begun by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced a new ground operation aimed at taking pressure off South Vietnam's northernmost provinces. The command said 21 Marines and 44 Communists had been killed in the first week of the operation and 167 Marines wounded.

In the air war, U.S. Navy planes returned to Haiphong for repeat raids on a missile-helicopter assembly base, a major highway bridge and three SAM antiaircraft missile sites.

Possibly 5,000 men were thrown into the new ground operation—Medina—28 miles south of the embattled demilitarized zone. They included several battalions from the 1st Marine Regiment, a special battalion landing team from the 7th Fleet's Ready Amphibious Force and South Vietnamese troops.

The operation began Oct. 11 but was not announced until today for security reasons. Marine intelligence reports indicate there are 17 Communist battalions operating around the DMZ and in Quang Tri Province, perhaps more than 7,000 enemy troops.

Operation Medina is under way in the dense, jungled mountains near the southern boundary of Quang Tri Province, nine miles south of the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

U.S. spokesman said heavy monsoon rains were making the operation difficult. The heaviest fighting so far occurred last Thursday when 300 Marines ran up against about 400 North Vietnamese troops in a battle that raged for 4½ hours.

Backed by artillery and helicopter gunships, the Marines reported killing 30 of the enemy, while eight Marines were killed and 46 wounded.

Since then, there have been numerous scattered contacts between small units.

Scattered Skirmishes

U.S. Navy bombers streaked in from carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin Monday to attack a huge military compound three miles south of the center of Haiphong for the third time in eight days and the northern approach to the Kien An highway bridge 1.7 miles from the heart of the city.

The military compound contains about 70 army barracks and other buildings where Russian-built missiles and helicopters arriving by sea are assembled.

Elsewhere across South Vietnam, only scattered skirmishes were reported with 26 of the enemy reported killed by U.S. troops.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported Communist gunners killed one civilian and wounded 23 in two separate mortar attacks. One of the attacks was on a village between the demilitarized zone and the Marine base at Dong Ha.

U.S. pilots flew 105 strike missions over North Vietnam Monday. The focus of attention was on Haiphong, where Navy officers claim thousands of tons of war supplies have been backed up as a result of the campaign of nearly two months to isolate the port city.

Navy A4 Skyhawk and F4 Phantom pilots reported numerous secondary explosions, fires and a plume of smoke rising 2,000 feet in the raid on the big military compound, hit for the first time Oct. 9 after it was taken off the list of targets out of bounds for American warplanes.

U.S. spokesmen maintain they must keep bombing the sprawling military compound because there are many supplies and missiles there, apparently more than can be dealt with in one raid.

Navy pilots reported cratering the northern approach to the Kien An highway bridge, one of four main bridges cut previously to bottle up military supplies that are shipped from Haiphong to Communist troops in South Vietnam.

Vice Adm. John J. Hyland Jr., commander of the 7th Fleet in Vietnam, told a news conference Monday that all four main bridges were down, but U.S. spokesmen said repair work is a continual process.

Hong Kong's Border With China Fenced Off

HONG KONG (AP) — Struggling to curb Communist violence, British authorities tonight completed the erection of a barbed wire fence along the 17-mile-long frontier between this crown colony and Red China. One aim was to block further kidnaping.

Four Hong Kong men have been abducted across the border in the last two weeks and there was no word on their fate.

Storm Sewer Plan Backed By Commission

New London Panel Will Ask Council To Hire Engineer

NEW LONDON — Preparation of plans for storm sewers for the southeast section of the city gained planning commission backing Monday.

A recommendation that the council retain Donohue and Associates, Sheboygan, the city's consulting engineering firm, to prepare plans for the project was made by the commission.

The area is located south of the Wolf River and east of Algoma Street. Ray Pelishek, public works director, said only 2½ blocks on Mill Street in this area now have storm sewers

Pelishek said this was a good time for the engineering firm to make field surveys and to prepare plans for the project. A project of this magnitude will require a bond issue, Pelishek said.

He said that the city was under orders from the state to separate its storm sewer system from the sanitary system to aid in water pollution abatement.

Mayor Suggests

Mayor Harry S. Emans suggested the city "should stay ahead of the game," referring to a need for planning in advance.

Pelishek brought up an offer from Richard Berglund to sell 16-17 acres of land north of the Rasmussen Canal to the city as a possible industrial park.

Berglund indicated the land was available if the city or New London Industrial Opportunities (NLIO), city industrial promotion corporation, wanted it for an industrial site, Pelishek said.

Commission members felt that NLIO should be contacted on its feelings about the site before it was discussed further.

In other action, the commission recommended that the city vacate the east end of North Street, located west of Dr. Pfeifer Park. The 60 by 120 foot piece of land has never been improved as a street and is believed to have been vacated in 1938.

Sewage Plant Work Ahead of Schedule

But Shipment Delays Could Hold Up Project at New London

NEW LONDON — The city council was told Monday that work on the sewage treatment plant addition was progressing ahead of schedule but that a delay might develop if shipment of equipment was delayed.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, said the work was progressing well and about 90 per cent of the concrete work had been completed Most mechanical work remains to be completed and much of this equipment hasn't been received, he added.

Pelishek said the city was under order by the state to complete an addition to the plant because only 30 to 35 per cent of the discharge into the Wolf River had been adequately treated. At least 90 per cent of the bacteria must be broken down before discharge.

Several Questions

Several aldermen raised questions about the addition's ability to reduce odors coming from the present system. Pelishek said that most odors should be taken care of by the new system but that it was possible for them to occur, especially if industrial wastes were released in great amount.

Ald. Jerome Zaug, (1st), finance chairman, said all committees must send their budgets to the committee by the end of the week so they could be compiled and a total budget prepared for council review.

Aldermen expressed overwhelming opposition to a question by the public property committee about building an addition to the fire station to house one of the trucks

Original plans when the new aerial unit was ordered were to trade off the 1947 model fire truck. Ofers for the truck were so low that it was decided to retain it as an additional piece of equipment.

New London Speeds Program for Housing

Aims Toward Nov. 7 for HUD Okay

NEW LONDON — The city's workable program, clearing the way for federal approval of funds for a low-rental housing development for the elderly, could be completed by Nov. 7 if all of the details can be ironed out.

City planning commission members Monday reviewed a lengthy federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) form which must be completed before federal approval of the housing program can be granted

The workable program covers adoption of several codes dealing with construction, electrical wiring, health proedures, plumbing and clearing up of blighted areas in the city The city also must appoint special planning consultant and code review committees, adopt a city planning policy, and initiate numerous other programs, ordinances and policies or studies in regard to the implementation and need for low rent housing for the elderly.

Recommend Law

As part of the program, the commission recommended the city council adopt the state industrial commission law on fire prevention.

The city policy specified as objectives

— Adoption of sound and modern zoning standards and districting which will preserve the integrity of residential and non-residential areas

— An increased systematic inspection program for the enforcement of technical codes with emphasis placed on deteriorating areas

— Encouragement of contracting for elderly and low-rental housing

— Encouragement of citizens groups and citizen participation in all phases of governmental action — Encouragement of institutional businesses to invest in revitalizing deteriorating areas

— Preparation of a central business district plan

— Exploration of feasible methods of accomplishing specific aspects of neighborhood revitalization, including code enforcement, private development, public capital improvements programming and urban renewal techniques.

Tarr Group Told

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Wisconsin counties which pay into the state treasury more funds than they receive in shared taxes and aids might be better off raising their own revenues and financing most local government services directly, the Tarr Task Force was told Monday.

The state's study committee on local governmental organization and shared tax redistribution eventually will have to consider the problem, the unit was told by Dr. C. K. Alexander, research director for the Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance

A number of counties, including most in the Fox River Valley, pay into the state treasury more funds in a year than are received back in present shared tax distribution systems and through state aids for education, highways, and other governmental functions

Expensive Aids

It costs Outagamie County $1 23 in tax payments to earn $1 in shared taxes and state aids, Alexander pointed out. Brown County taxpayers must pay $1.25 to earn a single dollar back.

Calumet County taxpayers are charged $1.31. Winnebago County $1 17. Manitowoc County $1.18. Fond du Lac County $1.05 and La Crosse County $1.10, according to Alexander

Milwaukee County is charged $1 23 per $1 of state aids and shared taxes, Alexander said.

His comments were part of the unit's review of the distribution of shared taxes and state aids among basic units of government in Wisconsin.

Towns Benefit

Surveying state Department of Revenue tax collection and distribution figures, Assemblyman Raymond J. Tobiasz, D-Milwaukee, reported that towns pay in 22 per cent of state tax collections, but receive 28 per cent of shared funds and state aids.

"Do we have too much government and are we paying for it?" he asked Alexander

That too is a policy question the task force, headed by Lawrence University President Curtis Tarr must face before it completes its deliberations and reports its findings to the 1969 Legislature, said Alexander.

Governmental costs in general are not caused by the type of government involved — town, village or city — but rather by the size of the unit involved, said Alexander

"The more congested the area, the greater are the demands for services," said Tarr.

Ranks Fourth

Wisconsin ranks fourth in the nation among states on the percentage of governmental funds spent locally, but 25th in the amount raised locally

The funds are primarily raised by the state and sent back to localities, giving rise to the possibility of charging some counties more than $1 in state aids and shared taxes.

CLINTONVILLE — No injuries resulted from a two-car accident at 6:30 a m Saturday just north of the city limits on Graceland Cemetery hill Total property damage was estimated at $2,500 by investigating Waupaca County police

James R Arneson, 36, 203 N Main St., Clintonville, was traveling north on U S. 45 when Clarence Zellmer, 53, route 1, Clintonville, pulled out of his driveway onto 45 and was also heading north

Arneson told police he saw the Zellmer car but not the trailer, boat and motor behind it.

Zellmer claimed that all the lights were working on his equipment.

The 1965 car diven by Arneson was a total loss and about $800 damages resulted to the Zellmer 1965 model car and equipment

State, Diocesan Clergy Polled

Priests Want to Marry

GREEN BAY — A poll of priests in the Green Bay Diocese shows 67 per cent of those replying to a questionnaire favor giving priests the option to choose between marriage and celibacy.

With 141 of the 349 Green Bay Diocese priests who received the questionnaire replying, 95 said they favored option celibacy, 45 said they opposed it and one registered no opinion.

The poll was taken by the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, (NAPR), an organization of priests and laymen who have urged giving priests in the United States the option to marry.

The poll, according to the NAPR, also showed that younger priests are more strongly in favor of the marriage option than older priests. Pastors in the Green Bay Diocese were split evenly for and against the option, while assistant pastors, who generally tend to be younger men, were 90 per cent in favor of it. Priests in other roles registered a 60 per cent vote in favor

Sent 1,741 Priests

Altogether, the poll questionnaire was sent to 1,741 priests in Wisconsin's five dioceses, and 709, or 40 per cent replied. The same percentage held true in the Green Bay Diocese.

On a state-wide basis, 63 per cent of the priests who replied said they favored being given the right to choose between marriage and celibacy. 34 per cent opposed it and 3 per cent declined to state an opinion

On a state average, too, older priests tended to oppose the option; assistant pastors strongly favored it and priests in church roles other than parish work — such as teachers, chaplains, chancery and social workers — favored it to a somewhat lesser extent

The state-wide averages showed 55 8 per cent of pastors in opposition while 83 2 per cent of assistant pastors and 63 5 per cent of those in other roles said they were in favor of the option

The somewhat higher averages in favor of the option among Green Bay Diocesan priests was explained to some extent as reflecting a general lower average age among priests of this diocese as compared with priests in the Milwaukee Diocese, for instance

The NAPR poll covered 41 dioceses in the nation's Midwest, South, Northwest and West coast. Nationally, based on 6 442 responses, 59 7 per cent of all pastors opposed change, 65 2 per cent of assistants favored it and 53 4 per cent of those in other jobs favored it No national average of all priests was made available, however.

Tax Relief To be Asked

Municipalities Want Rebate Fund Replenished

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Local government officials organized as the League of Wisconsin Municipalities will apply pressure upon the Legislature this week to replenish the sagging state fund used for the relief of local property taxes.

The legislature returns to its chambers Tuesday.

Wednesday hundreds of delegates will gather here for the annual meeting of the league which will have before it a resolution complaining that the state's property tax credit fund is now providing only 7 5 per cent in local property tax cuts, instead of the 10 per cent that was planned when the program was begun with the institution of the state sales tax six years ago.

Noting that the average local equalized property tax rate has risen 22 per cent during the last decade, the League resolutions committee claimed that the rate of local taxation in many communities is reaching the point of confiscation, in view of qualified critics of the tax problems

In other major policy matters, the League will be asked by its leaders to renew pressure on the legislature for a reform of the highway aid distribution schedule to remove what it claims are discriminatory features favoring town roads and penalizing city and village streets, and a modernization of municipal annexation laws

Under present annexation procedures, a small minority of residents living in areas designated for annexation to an urban district is able to thwart the wishes of a majority and veto "actions which are in the interests of the people living in the entire community," the League leadership said in a resolution prepared for the convention delegates.

THE POST-CRESCENT

Tuesday, October 17, 1967

Penny Wise, Pound Foolish

The Appleton city council's finance committee is treading on thin ice with its stand that funds should not be included in the 1968 municipal budget for key city officials and department heads to attend conventions more than 200 air miles away.

This policy of isolationism, pushed by Mayor George Buckley, has had a negative effect and is completely unrealistic in terms of so-called "savings to the taxpayer."

Running the city government this year represented a $15 million business, and like private industry, we feel it is justified to send public officials and others to various parts of the country to keep in touch with the pulse of urbanization, its problems, and how others in cities like Appleton are attempting to meet them.

The contacts made by city government representatives at national conferences and institutes are invaluable and should not be curtailed under the false guise of realizing major economies. Knocking out conventions has always been a politically popular thing to do, but the extreme to which the present administration is reaching does not reflect well on Appleton.

While the convention issue has been an obsession with some people at City Hall, we feel the time has come for the council to adopt a common sense policy and okay trips to other parts of the country on the merits of what information and experience can be gleaned from the program.

For example, if the National League of Cities Congress is considered worthwhile for the city to have representation — then it should whether the event is at Milwaukee, Chicago or San Francisco. There is no legitimate reason — unless polltical popularity qualifies — that Appleton should become the wallflower of the Fox Valley and Wisconsin when it comes to representation at worthwhile national events.

Can We Cooperate in Space?

Last week 13 nations deposited their notices of ratification of a treaty aimed at preventing space to be used for military purposes and President Johnson used the occasion to suggest once more cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union in space exploration.

The President had made similar proposals when he met with Premier Kosygin at Glassboro last summer. There was no noticeable enthusiasm from the Soviet Union. But one of Russia's leading space scientists, Professor Leonid Sedov, has recently made statements suggesting such cooperation among the nations heading for the moon and other planets.

President Johnson said that the first decade of space exploration had been "competitive spacemanship" with "duplicated or overlapping effort" by the United States and Russia. He suggested "the next decade should increasingly become a partnership."

There is some amount of that feeling in the space treaty itself. It prohibits the placing of nuclear weapons in orbit or on celestial bodies and bars military installations or maneuvers from the moon once someone gets there. It also prohibits claims of sovereignty on the planets, guarantees open access to all installations, equipment and space vehicles on the celestial bodies and the prompt and safe return of both astronauts and vehicles if they land outside their own nations.

But the fact that the treaty was signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain last winter with little opposition and that the Senate unanimously ratified it indicates that it is not yet considered very important as far as future or present conflicts are concerned. The hard fact is that no one yet has planned any of the things the treaty prohibits. And of course, as space achievements grow, treaties can be relatively easily broken.

But as President Johnson seems to be aware, the best way of making the treaty work is for more cooperation in space exploration between the United States and the Soviet Union. It may seem ridiculous to press toward such an end at a time when both countries are indirectly at least at war in Vietnam. Suspicions that were becoming allayed have risen again among both Americans and Russians over the ambitions of each other.

The one big factor working in favor of cooperation, however, is the cost of space exploration and, oddly enough, the fact that both the American and Russian expenses have risen because of Vietnam. American budgetary concerns are well known to most Americans and the Russians have just announced a 1968 budget which will increase the cost of defense by 15 per cent. The fact that the Soviet budget also switched around its old priority for heavy industry in favor of consumer goods is an indication that the Soviet leaders feel the need to woo the public. As in the United States, massive expenditures to reach the moon may not be overwhelmingly popular.

If the United States and the Soviet Union could cooperate on space exploration it would remove from that field the competition built on fear of each other. With such criteria missing, expenditures and plans could be far more realistic and in keeping with other needs for public funds.

Next They'll Call It a Clover

As if old Queen Elizabeth, Oliver Cromwell and the Black and Tans weren't enough, the Irish now have another grudge to bear against the English.

Judge Sir Geoffrey Cross of London was brought a case involving the Irish Minister for Industry and Commerce and the Grundig Company of West Germany. Grundig used what it preferred to call a trefoil as the trademark on its goods which are primarily electrical and radio equipment. Grundig argued that the symbol had been for 400 years part of the coat of arms of the Bavarian town of Furth where the company was established in 1948 and that Grundig had used the trefoil since 1953 without any complaints.

Well, maybe the Germans call it a trefoil but any Irishman knows it is a shamrock. The Irish minister argued that the unwary might think that somehow anything stamped with the shamrock had something to do with Ireland and things made in West Germany simply do not.

But Sir Geoffrey, in what certainly to an Irishman is a clear case of prejudice, ruled that Grundig could go right ahead using the shamrock as its trademark and even sell its equipment so labeled in the Emerald Isle. "It would be preposterous" to say that an innocent trefoil invariably meant some connection with Ireland, said the British judge.

The next thing an English court will decide that it's quite all right for non-Irishmen to wear green on St. Patrick's Day.

'That's called locking the door after the elephant's gone.'

Vietnam Emerging as Murderous Political Issue Within Parties

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The continuing debate on Vietnam has turned political with a vengeance. For the fight is not one of those gentle affairs between Democrats and Republicans. Rather Vietnam has emerged as a murderous issue inside each party.

Kraft

To grasp what has happened it is necessary to reverse the familiar principle that you need a program to tell the players In this case you need to know the players in order to understand the program.

The players to know are the new figures in the debate—men more concerned with the political uses of an argument than its merits. On the Republican side the new entrants include Senators Thruston Morton of Kentucky and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania — two former chairmen of the party's national committee. On the Democratic side, there are Speaker of the House John McCormack, Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien and the chairman of the national committee, John Bailey.

Among Republicans, the problem is how to meet the Democrats on the war. It finds expression in a pulling and hauling around the leadership of the minority of the Senate.

DIRKSEN ANGERS YOUTH

The performance of Sen. Everett Dirksen, and especially his unquestioning support of President Johnson on Vietnam, has irritated a good many younger and more liberal Republicans who would like the party to take a more openly critical stance. Normally this view would find expression through the Republican whip, Thomas Kuchel of California.

But Mr. Kuchel, in his fight for re-election in 1968, faces the possibility of opposition from a conservative Democrat, Max Rafferty, who might be supported by California's conservative Republican governor, Ronald Reagan. To assure himself of the governor's support, Senator Kuchel has been aligning himself with Senator Dirksen on Vietnam.

In this situation, the way was open for an ambitious man to bid for the support of the younger liberals by expressing their views on Vietnam. Senator Morton has made that bid That explains his speech on Oct. 5, asserting that the President had been "brainwashed" on Vietnam by his military advisers.

With Morton thus positioned, the way was open for a liberal eastern Republican to come forward as a supporter of the Dirksen approach. Senator Scott did that last Monday in a speech expressing "support" for "our policy with respect to Vietnam." His speech left all possible bases covered.

On the Democratic side, the point at issue is the President's leadership of his party. Liberal Democrats across the country, and expecially in New York and California where most of the political money grows, have turned against him on Vietnam.

TIGHTEN PARTY LINES

For a long time the national party leadership did not force the issue, apparently hoping that the war might go away. But now the party leaders are moving to tighten party discipline by asserting the primacy of Vietnam as a mark of patriotism and loyalty.

Thus Postmaster General O'Brien inserted into a speech in West Virginia last month a long section on Vietnam ending with a declaration that the President's aim was "a durable peace — not just the pause that refreshes the enemies of freedom." In the same vein, party chairman Bailey asserted on Oct. 9 that Vietnam would be "the issue" in the campaign. And on Wednesday, on the floor of the House, the speaker said of the President's critics on Vietnam: "If I were one of these, my conscience would disturb me for the rest of my life."

Confused at this maneuvering may seem, there follow from it certain clear conclusions. Despite victory claims coming out of Saigon, both political parties assume that they will enter the next election with the war still going on.

The Republican shuffle inadvertently keeps open to the party all possible positions on Vietnam. The Democrats are deliberately moving toward a harsh, metallic unity. And the country is facing a period of raw politics, a season of savagery and confusion, the time of the moral assassins.

Government Cannot Apply Magic to Solve Problems Overnight

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the characteristics of democratic society is the tendency for the people and their political leaders to permit problems to accumulate until they attain such aggravated form that they can no longer be ignored. Then they demand earnestly that they be resolved overnight or sooner.

Wyngaard

The problems of the inner core in Milwaukee have been visible to those who wanted to see them for years. The crisis in the financing of the large cities of Wisconsin, and in the rest of the country, that has persuaded a dozen anxious mayors to create a new legislative lobby with an ambitious list of demands for legislative relief could have been anticipated by any resaonably attentive citizen or local public official a decade ago at least. The restiveness, approaching rebellion, of rank and file teachers about their exclusion from the affluent economy could have been forcast by anybody who had paid the slightest attention to recent events. Now there is a demand for a crash program of relief. so that the teacher of Latin or English composition can earn as much as the janitor

POLLUTION GOOD EXAMPLE

Perhaps the best example of the tendency is in the hue and cry about cleaning up Wisconsin lakes and streams. as represented in what the headline writers describe as the new "war" on water pollution.

The Legislature enacted two years ago what has been accurately described as perhaps the most comprehensive state law for the control of public water spoilation in this country.

But already there are signs of impatience in the body politic about the progress or lack thereof under that broad new statute.

Freeman Holmer, the commander in that war, recently told an interviewer that he has scheduled a program that will require 10 years for the execution, as a minimum. Even under the best of circumstances, he indicated, the state cannot be assured that at the end of the decade every lake and stream in the state will have water of the quality that the public wants and that some of the more impatient critics are demanding with ever invreasing impatience.

CENTURY OF PROBLEMS

Holmer is not a green horn in public affairs. He has had a considerable experience in public administration. To suggest, even by implication, that less than 10 years will be needed to show some results, however imperfect, would have been rash, indeed. For every realist knows that the degeneration of the quality of natural public waters that required a century or more of industrialization and settlement and agricultural penetration of wild lands to bring about may require a generation or two to correct, if it can be corrected at all.

Without in the slightest degree disparaging the idealistic hope that the destruction of natural surface water quality in Wisconsin ought to be reversed, or at least arrested, the public attitude toward the issue of pollution is typical of the boundless faith of the average man in the capacity of government to resolve his worries.

Punish the paper mills, the cry goes. Force the canning factories and the dairy plants and the others to correct their processes. Yet here in Madison the community is becoming aroused about the deterioration of the most attractive system of lakes in Wisconsin through pollution that has no visible connection with such sources. People cause pollution, too, although many of them appear unwilling to face the reality.

Probably the best hope of the pollution campaign, aside from continuing the pressure upon industry to devise improved disposal techniques, and assisting municipalities in refining their treatment processes, is to prevent the destruction of water quality in those localities where natural water conditions have survived. But only the naive will suppose that even such a limited goal will be easily gained.

A key effort will be the inauguration of shoreland zoning laws for the protection of recreational lakes. The grumbling in the hinterlands already indicates the nature of the resistance that will be generated against that plan.

Don't Talk Down To Young People

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"If you want to appeal to the young people, you've got to talk in their style," said a friend recently "Otherwise, you can't make the scene with them."

Harris

I don't believe it. What young people are looking for — and what they appreciate — is content, not style. They want it told the way it is, but you don't have to tell it in their barbaric jargon.

For a middle-aged person to express himself in hip-talk, or in hip-writing, would be ludicrous, affected, and patronizing. It would be, in effect, talking down — which young people properly despise.

In more than 20 years of writing a daily column, I have never talked down to anyone, and will not begin now. I have heard too many speakers at schools try it, and fail miserably. Young people would much rather you made them reach for you a little, if they feel the message is honest and worthwhile.

Besides, it is cheap and demeaning for a writer to scatter current slang phrases in his prose, like corn to attract the birds. He must first of all be honest to his own personality and his own mode of expression before he can communicate meaningfully to anyone.

Many television ads today, for instance, try to beguile young people by using a kind of mod language that is supposed faithfully to represent the way kids talk. Almost all of it is stilted and unbelievable — and most of the phrases are usually passe by the time they have been recognized by the Establishment.

The whole point of youthful slang is that it is a private language for a select society; by the time it becomes public, the leaders of the society have already discarded it, and only the little kids are using it. Most ads addressed to 16-year-olds are received warmly only by 6-year-olds.

Everyone knows that the father who tries to be a "pal" to his son is really abdicating his true role as a parent; the son doesn't want a "pal" 30 years older than he is. In the same way, adults who seek to ingratiate themselves with the young by mimicking their language defeat their own purpose and sound even "squarer" than ever.

The only way to appeal to young people is to put it on the line, in your own terms, in your own way, with the full force of your own background, your experience, your sensitivity, and your authentic voice. If these can't carry conviction, there's something wrong with your music, not with your words.

Says Police Should Have Helped Old Couple Earlier

Editor, Post-Crescent,

In regards to your editorial "A model of Fine Police Work", I would like to add a few comments, before we start patting ourselves on the back.

This whole gruesome episode in our lives may have been avoided.

Now correct me if I'm wrong. But as I understand it the woman called the police station and asked for help. And as a civil servant a policeman obliged her. But did he really help her? He said, "It was a civil matter".

The definition of civil is "characteristic of, or befitting a developed social community civilized.

He should have called the Welfare agency I should think such action would be a matter of policy in such cases.

Now I'm not blaming the officer, any more than I am myself or anyone in the community.

I hope that we have learned something by this episode.

Do you agree to this wholeheartedly?

(Editor's note — A story that appeared in the Oct. 10 Post-Crescent pointed out that when Appleton police were called to the Schmidt home on the family trouble complaint Sept. 15, Mrs. Marie Schmidt asked that her husband be "committed to a home." Police have revealed, as the story states, that they actually took steps to assist Mrs. Schmidt, by contacting a judge's office. However, before they had time to proceed further, Mrs. Schmidt reportedly "changed her mind" about the commitment, and asked police to leave her home.)

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Oct. 10, 1867.

Chief Justcie Chase, in a recent conversation with Lucy Stone, gave expression to the following views on woman's suffrage:

"Be free to say from me that I think there will be no end to the good that will come by woman's suffrage, on the elected, on elections themselves, on government, and on woman herself.

"I have said this in public and private for many years.

"I am glad that an effort is in the making in Kansas to accomplish it, and I shall rejoice when the elective franchise shall be as free to women as it is now to men.

"I think, too, that this will be at no distant day."

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Oct. 13, 1942.

It was announced that day in Washington that the United States had lost three heavy cruisers, the Astoria, Quincy and the Vincennes, in a naval battle Aug. 9 during the early phase of the American occupation of the Solomon Islands.

Richard W. Mahony, secretary of Outagamie County Civilian Defense Council, announced that day the war chest campaign goal was $50,000. Ross Williams, commander of county defense, said air raid wardens would head the fund drive in various sectors of the county.

Three one-act plays were to be presented by students at Shiocton High School with one to be chosen for the Little Nine Drama contest. Members of the "Live and Learn" cast included Katherine Mielke, Shirley Rusch, Beverly Fellner, Virginia Schwall, Maxine Hardy, Ralph Gehring, Calvin Falk and Lyle Shepard.

In the play "Merry Mix Up" were Twila Payton, Germaine Riehl, Margaret Rietz, Gordon Poole, Roger Van Straten and Adela Klitzke. Students in the comedy "Elmer Cleans Up" were Willard Last, Naomi Peterson, Arleen Scott, Louis Mielke and Marjorie Peterson.

More Employees Receive at Least Month Vacation

CHICAGO (AP) — Vacations are getting longer.

Commerce Cleaning House, making an analysis of government information, shows 72 per cent of the union agreements in effect in 1966-67 provided a maximum vacation period of four or more weeks. This is a sharp rise from 43 per cent in 1961 and 20 per cent in 1957.

Most contracts specify 20 years service as the requirement for four weeks' vacation compared with 25 years in both 1961 and 1957.

There was a sharp increase in the number of agreements granting this length vacation after 15 years of service.

An increasing number of agreements granted two weeks' vacation after three years of service and three weeks after 10 years.
